TWO BODIES TO BE EXHUMED IN M'CLINTOCK CASECoroner to Issue Order for Examination of the Corpses of Dead Youth's
Mother and Dr. Olson.SHEPHERD TO FIGHT
DENIAL OF BAILExperts Have Agreed It Would Be Difficult to Find Trace of Poison
Years After Burial.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 26.—Coroner Welf announced today he would issue an order for the exhumation of the bodies of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, mother of the dead
"millionaire orphan," William S.
McClintock, and Dr. Oscar Olson.
The coroner's decision, after a conference with a representative of the State's Attorney, came shortly after counsel for William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of young McClintock, had announced
he would attempt to free Shepherd on bail, which had been denied late yesterday. Mrs. McClintock died three years ago, and Dr. Olson died three years ago.

Judge Harry Olson, Chief Justice of the Municipal Court, who investigated the investigation and produced, with the aid of the police, all of the witnesses who testified before the grand jury which indicted Shepherd, said today he expected in a few days to confer with the State's Attorney on the exhumation of two bodies.

Grand Jury Suspended.
The grand jury, which was impaneled since the death of "Billy" McClintock leaving a will bequeathing the bulk of his estate to Shepherd, that the deaths of the youth's mother and of his own father, Dr. Olson, were suspicious.

After her husband was killed in an automobile accident, Mrs. McClintock asked Shepherd and his wife to live with them. She died when her son was about 6 years old. Dr.
Olson had been a friend and adviser of the boy and had instructed Shepherd, Judge Olson says.

Several weeks ago Judge Olson demanded the exhumation of the body of Dr. Olson, but medical experts have generally agreed that it would be difficult to find the trace of poison after a body had been buried several years.

A fourth death, that of Otto
Hoffman, brother of Shepherd's wife, Susan, who died 20 years ago, also has been investigated recently by Judge Olson. Graf then employed Shepherd in a drug store and upon his death, Shepherd became manager of the business.

Chance of a speedy trial if Shepherd wishes it was held out after him Judge Hopkins' decision, given after three days of testimony, an argument.

Falman's Story Chief Factor.
The whole question in the bail hearing, the court said, rested on the testimony of Charles C. Falman, head of a science school and indicted with Shepherd, to whom he said he gave typhoid fever.

Terms knowing they were to be used by McClintock, the truth
there was a conspiracy to murder
the boy, said Judge Hopkins. "If Falman is not this defendant has been subject of a monstrous injustice. He has been enmeshed in circumstances unprecedented and painful to contemplate.
But it is not for the court to decide in a hearing of this nature."

Shepherd may not be transferred to occupy cell 13, where he has been kept since March 18, due to the possibility of early release.

"Well, boys, I lost out. I guess I'll be with you a long time," he said to the jailers.

Shepherd, in his present cell,
has been retreating every night about midnight and sleeping soundly until morning, his keepers declared.

Knox was arrested last night

Some Day Will Head.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, March 26.—Fowler McMormick, in soiled overalls and with calloused hands, is working as a laborer in the Milwaukee plant of the International Harvester Co.
He is a son of Harold F. McMormick and Edith Rockefeller McMormick, and some day will direct the business. He attended Princeton.

His pay, even with overtime, will seldom run more than $3 a day. He rises at 6, goes to work at 7 and works until 6 at night, with half an hour for luncheon, which he eats out of a paper sack.

Young McMormick lives the life of the men with whom he associates. He has a room in a boarding house near the plant and takes all his meals there save the bread and coffee ration he carries with him. None of his fellow workers suspected he might be other than
"F. McMormick, laborer."

DETROIT, Mich., March 26.—A man was shot to death shortly af-

near one of the world's busiest street intersections and within a one of three men who escaped in an automobile.

The dead man is Earl Maher,

Windsor, Ont., and Leo Stransky
of Detroit, were crossing the square

The car, a narrow escape behind a car, narrowly escaped being run down by an automobile containing three men. The car stopped across the street and Maher, Brill and Stransky went over to it and remonstrated with the driver to his carelessness.

In reply, one of the men in the machine fired one shot, the bullet entering Maher's chest, inflicting a wound from which he died before he could be taken to a hospital.

CROSVILLE, Cal., March 26.—
Herman H. Sharlow, victim of cult branding here, offered himself as a "sacrifice to the Holy Ghost," although he did not expect to pay with his life, according to a confession announced by District Attorney Edgar R. Rhee, who has been obtained from Mrs. Anna Rhodes and confine the grand
in her home, which she calls "Ark of the Covenant."

Rhee said he would ask for an insanity warrant against Mrs.
Rhodes and confine the grand jury for a thorough inquiry into the practices of the religious body to which the woman and her relatives belong. This organization is said to be known as the Assembly of God, which has been meeting at Gridley and which its members are represented as claiming is an outgrowth of the Pentecostal Church.

The branding, according to Rhee's statement, of Mrs. Rhodes occurred in the early hours of March 1. Her brother, Sharlow, she is reported to have admitted, volunteered to have the Holy Ghost burned into him. In the presence of her husband, Edward, she was the "routing lion of the tribe," first passed the white hot iron before her lips to purify it and then applied it to the soles of Sharlow's feet and his head, making the "sign of the cross" with it.
It was said by Mrs. Rhodes to have been interrupted by Mrs. Olive Humphreys of San Francisco, an evangelist of the Pentecostal Church, who protested against such practices.

Sharlow died last Thursday and the investigation began shortly afterward indicated that he had been a victim of the cult burning.

Many Cattle for Help.By the Associated Press.
VALENTINE, Neb., March 26.—
Three separate prairie fires of huge proportions are devastating the Rosebud Indian reservation in the south central part of South Dakota and have already burned over hundreds of thousands of acres of adjoining Nebraska land. The fire is now within seven miles of Valentine, which is just south of the reservation.

Urgent calls for help have been received here from ranchmen of the devastated districts. One call reported that one woman and two children had been burned to death
in the small inland town of Tuhill, S. D. This town, advised said, had been destroyed.

ABERDEEN, S. D., March 26.—
Telephone advices today from Wakarusa, on the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, said that two prairie fires were raging near there and that a third was gaining headway northwest of Trail City.

MANDAN, N. D., March 26.—
At least five farm homes near Selfridge, 200 sheep and an unesti-mated amount of hay have been destroyed by a prairie fire which was sweeping toward the Black Hills before a stiff wind at noon today. Homesteaders and farmers, straggling into the towns of Sioux County, where the fire is raging, told of the damage. One man is reported to have lost his life in fighting the fire near Walker, S. D.

Victor J. Miller, Republican nom-and Hickory street, where amateur boxing matches were being held last night, and after tossing his hat into the ring, was introduced as "a great friend of boxing and our next Mayor."

Miller mounted the steps leading to the ring and gave the 750
persons present his best campaign smile. He was greeted with cheers at the outset, but when the Democrats present recovered from the surprise of the hat sailing into the ring, they gave recognition to the Republican nominee with a series of "boos."

Miller did not address the gathleft the ring in company with C. M. Westerman, a member of the committee which sponsored the boxing matches under the direction of the Amateur Athletic Union and who had introduced Miller to

NINE GO TO TRIAL IN CASE OF DANCING GIRLFormer Officials Named in Plot to Kidnap Ex-Favorite of Indore Potentate.

By the Associated Press.
BOMBAY, March 26.—Widespread attention throughout India has been attracted to the trial which opened here today of nine persons accused of attempting, Jan.
12, to kidnap Mumtaz Begum, beautiful dancing girl, and former favorite of the Maharajah of Indore.

Several of the accused persons held high positions under the Maharajah, and it is alleged the girl, who had occurred from the household of the potentate, had been threatened with abduction unless she returned willingly.

Abdul Kadir Baula, a wealthy Mohammedan merchant, under whose protection the girl was at the time of the crime, was killed in the attempt to prevent her abduction.

High Officials Involved.
Sensational revelations concerning persons in high quarters have been predicted in connection with the trial, in which the accused include Shafa Ahmed, who was the Risaldar (Commander) of the Indore Mounted Police; Sham Rao Dighe, captain of the Indore air force, and Aand Rao Phanse, Adjutant-General of the Indore state forces. The others are holders of minor positions in the Indore government.

Mumtaz, who lay in a hospital
for weeks suffering from knife wounds which disfigured her face and who has been closely guarded since the attempted kidnapping because of repeated anonymous threats, was called as the first witness for the prosecution.

Mistress for 10 Years.
Mumtaz testified she had first entered the household of the Maharaja as a singing and dancing girl and later lived there for nine or ten years as his mistress, becoming mother of a child which died in infancy. Finally, discovering she was apparently no longer the favorite of the potentate, she escaped through the aid of a policeman and sought Baula's protection.

Later, the girl added, she was threatened with dire punishment
unless she returned to the Maha-rajah's establishment, and there were several attempts at abduction, which culminated in the affair of
Jan. 12, in which Baula was killed.

Testifying this afternoon before the Congressional Committee investigating the conduct of Federal Judge George W. English, to determine if he should be impeached, Paul Schaffly,
chairman of the board of directors of the Union Trust Co., stated that his bank paid interest on bankruptcy funds to Faris English, son of Judge English.

Under questioning by the committee, the banker admitted that this interest, amounting to $200 a month, was paid to the Judge's son in return for the son using his influence with his father to keep the bankruptcy funds on deposit in Schaffly's bank.

Fourteen checks, totaling approximately $2700, were introduced in evidence and identified by the bank's officers as those paid to Faris English as interest on bankruptcy deposits. They were made payable to "cash."

That the checks were not indorsed caused nearly all the seven members of the investigating committee to fire questions at Vice President Hemker, and the matter finally rested with introduction of a transcript of Faris English's account.

Questions asked of Schaffly on cross-examination indicated that the defense on this point would consist of an endeavor to show that Faris English collected the interest, and acted as he did without either the knowledge or consent of the Judge.

These funds were placed in the bank by trustees in bankruptcy appointed by Referee in Bankruptcy Thomas, who held his office by appointment of Judge English. The Judge designated the depository, Thomas, who recently resigned as Referee in Bankruptcy, has stated to the Post-Dispatch on several occasions that no interest ever was paid on funds of bankruptcy estates which his trustees placed in the five depositories designated by Judge English. Records of the Bankruptcy Referee's office show that no interest was paid to bankrupt estates as funds placed in the five depositories.

Says 3 Per Cent Was Paid.
Chairman Schaffly of the Union Trust Co. testified that his bank, since March, 1924, had paid 3 per cent interest on the average monthly balance of bankruptcy funds on deposit there. This interest, he added, was paid to Judge English's son, Faris English, in addition to a month as a general bookkeeper in the bank's employ.

The bankruptcy deposits in the bank have averaged from $75,000 to $100,000. Schaffly testified, since 1918, when Judge English was appointed to the Federal bench by President Wilson, and at which time Judge English designated the Union Trust Co. as a depository.

Schaffly stated that Faris English worked at the bank one day
a week.

him during a vacation, and that he resumed employment there early in 1923, leaving the bank's employ last January. In the interim, Faris English had been cashier of the Drovers' National Bank, which failed last May, and in which Judge English and Referee Thomas were stockholders.

A. B. Dennis, counsel for complainants, asked if there had been a withdrawal of bankruptcy deposits from the Union Trust Co. by Referee Thomas. Schaffly replied that in 1922, shortly after Judge English and Referee Thomas bought stock in the Drovers' National Bank and Faris English became cashier of that bank, Thomas began shifting bankruptcy funds from the Union Trust to the Drovers' National.

Schaffly testified he saw Referee Thomas and offered to pay interest on bankruptcy deposits, to retain the account for his bank. Referee Thomas, he said, stated there was no provision for payment of interest. "However," the witness quoted Referee Thomas as saying, "if you can throw any business my way I'll appreciate it."

The witness said, Faris English entered the service of the Union Trust about six months or a year after this conversation with Referee Thomas. Within 60 days, Schaffly testified, the bankruptcy deposits in his bank were materially increased by Referee Thomas, and Judge English and Referee Thomas transferred their personal accounts from the Drovers' National to the Union Trust.

Dennis asked the witness if he had talked with Judge English about that time about the latter becoming associated with the bank. He replied that he had not.

"Did anyone connected with the bank talk to Judge English about that matter about that time?" he was asked. "Yes; F. W. Hemker had talked to the Judge about becoming associated with the bank."

"About $200 a Month."

"How much money did you pay Faris English in interest on the bankruptcy deposits?" "I have sent for those records and they should be over here shortly, when I will be able to give you definite figures. I would say we paid him about $200 a month."

"How was this money paid to Faris English?" "It was paid by check."

"From what fund was it paid?" "It was paid from the bond fund."

"Was Mr. Hemker in charge of the bond department at that time?" "Yes."

"Now tell us how you come to pay this interest to Faris English; how the arrangement came about."

"Did not want to lose the deposit and for that reason they decided to keep the deposit there by paying this interest."

"What was said to you about that matter by anyone that caused you to make this arrangement?" "Nothing was said that I can recall."

"Did Faris English say he would take the deposit where he wished and indicate he would take it from your bank?" "No, he did not say that, but we just drew the conclusion that if it was not paid the funds would be taken from the bank."

"Judge English came into the bank once or twice a week during the time we were paying interest to his son," Schaffly testified, in reply to Chairman Boies' question. He said the House talked about Faris' experience in banking. Schaffly insisted that he did not know whether Judge English was aware of the interest payments to his son.

"At the time I discussed employing Faris English," Schaffly said, "I told him I would start him out at $150 a month, and when he had a little more experience, I would raise him to $200. At the end of three months he came and remained on of the promise. I thought he was a little premature, but finally agreed to give it to him."

"Didn't you know he wasn't worth that much?" asked Chairman Boies. "I asked Boies, 'that he never would have been employed in your bank if it hadn't been for those deposits?'"

"I wouldn't say that," Schaffly demurred. "He was an intellectual fellow and had sense. He had had some experience in the Riggs National Bank of Washington."

"Who told you that he had had experience?" "His father told me," the witness replied.

Congressman Hersey asked who deposited the funds. The witness replied that the funds were deposited by the trustee in the different bankruptcy cases.

Schaffly testified, under questioning of Hersey, that each month the bank paid Faris English more than $200 as interest on these funds.

"He didn't own the funds," Hersey asked. "No, sir; we gave the money to him as a commission on the bankruptcy funds," Schaffly replied.

cause bankruptcy funds to be put in or taken out of the bank because of his being the son of Federal Judge English, did he not?" asked Hersey. "Yes, sir."

Taking up the questioning, Congressman Tillman asked: "You didn't pay interest to the creditors of the bankruptcy but to the son of the Federal Judge?"

"That is correct," the banker replied. "The creditors never asked for interest and Faris did."

"That might have been good business, but it was not good morals," inquired Representative Tillman.

"I went on the theory that it was a good deposit and we paid interest on all other deposits, and we paid interest on the account because it was a good policy to keep it in the bank," the banker replied.

The witness said that there were so many separate bankruptcy accounts that payment of interest to each would have been very small.

Congressman Tillman interrupted to ask: "Wasn't the real reason for payment of interest to Faris English the fact that he let you know he controlled the deposits because he was the son of his father, and he could have them remain with your bank or could take them away?" "Exactly."

Reason for Quitting.

Dennis asked: "What was the real reason for young English quitting the bank; wasn't it the fact that he wanted to be an officer and became disgruntled when he found he couldn't?" "Partly."

"Did he talk about buying a controlling interest in the bank?" "Yes."

"What was the capital stock of the bank at that time?" "It was $300,000."

"Did Faris English have the money to buy a controlling interest?" "I don't know, he talked about it."

The Renshaw Estate.

Schaffly was asked about the assets of the Renshaw estate. "It was the best bankruptcy account we had—about $48,000 or $50,000," he said.

"Did you pay interest on that account?" Tillman inquired. "It went to Faris English, along with the rest," he said.

"Didn't you, the Congressman sarcastically inquired, 'think that the creditors were more entitled to that interest than young English was?'"

"Not in view of the favors we were giving them," was the reply.

Questions developed that these favors consisted of allowing the bank to be used as the office for the trustee.

M. Paul Murray, now Commissioner of Finance of East St. Louis, was trustee of the Renshaw estate, and he demanded that the creditors receive interest on the account.

Schaffly admitted he told Murray that he did not intend to pay interest twice on the account, and that if Murray insisted on the payment of interest to the creditors, he would absorb it in office rent, telephone and clerical service.

"You never would have thought of charging for such service if Murray hadn't demanded interest, would you?" Tillman suggested, and Schaffly conceded that probably was true. However, he didn't know Murray was getting the interest.

Basis of Complaint.

It was this transaction which founded the basis of the sworn charges against Judge English, which Murray filed with the Speaker of the House talked about Faris' experience in banking.

Schaffly insisted that he did not know whether Judge English was aware of the interest payments to his son.

"At the time I discussed employing Faris English," Schaffly said, "I told him I would start him out at $150 a month, and when he had a little more experience, I would raise him to $200. At the end of three months he came and remained on of the promise. I thought he was a little premature, but finally agreed to give it to him."

"Didn't you know he wasn't worth that much?" asked Chairman Boies. "I asked Boies, 'that he never would have been employed in your bank if it hadn't been for those deposits?'"

"I wouldn't say that," Schaffly demurred. "He was an intellectual fellow and had sense. He had had some experience in the Riggs National Bank of Washington."

"Who told you that he had had experience?" "His father told me," the witness replied.

Congressman Hersey asked who deposited the funds. The witness replied that the funds were deposited by the trustee in the different bankruptcy cases.

Schaffly testified, under questioning of Hersey, that each month the bank paid Faris English more than $200 as interest on these funds.

mission on all bond sales and suggested that he call on Southern Illinois bankers to sell bonds, he never did so.

Chairman Boies, after the cross-examination, inquired: "As a matter of fact the money was paid to Faris English as interest on the monthly balance of deposits of trustees in bankruptcy?" "Yes, sir," replied the witness.

Congressman Michener obtained the statement from Schaffly that the bankruptcy funds' account was an excellent one for the bank as it was easy to handle, requiring little bookkeeping labor. The interest of 3 per cent was the customary rate of interest paid on all other deposits, and we paid interest on the account because it was a good policy to keep it in the bank," the banker replied.

The witness said that there were so many separate bankruptcy accounts that payment of interest to each would have been very small.

Congressman Tillman interrupted to ask: "Wasn't the real reason for payment of interest to Faris English the fact that he let you know he controlled the deposits because he was the son of his father, and he could have them remain with your bank or could take them away?" "Exactly."

Reason for Quitting.

Dennis asked: "What was the real reason for young English quitting the bank; wasn't it the fact that he wanted to be an officer and became disgruntled when he found he couldn't?" "Partly."

"Did he talk about buying a controlling interest in the bank?" "Yes."

"What was the capital stock of the bank at that time?" "It was $300,000."

"Did Faris English have the money to buy a controlling interest?" "I don't know, he talked about it."

The Renshaw Estate.

Schaffly was asked about the assets of the Renshaw estate. "It was the best bankruptcy account we had—about $48,000 or $50,000," he said.

"Did you pay interest on that account?" Tillman inquired. "It went to Faris English, along with the rest," he said.

"Didn't you, the Congressman sarcastically inquired, 'think that the creditors were more entitled to that interest than young English was?'"

"Not in view of the favors we were giving them," was the reply.

Questions developed that these favors consisted of allowing the bank to be used as the office for the trustee.

M. Paul Murray, now Commissioner of Finance of East St. Louis, was trustee of the Renshaw estate, and he demanded that the creditors receive interest on the account.

Schaffly admitted he told Murray that he did not intend to pay interest twice on the account, and that if Murray insisted on the payment of interest to the creditors, he would absorb it in office rent, telephone and clerical service.

"You never would have thought of charging for such service if Murray hadn't demanded interest, would you?" Tillman suggested, and Schaffly conceded that probably was true. However, he didn't know Murray was getting the interest.

Basis of Complaint.

It was this transaction which founded the basis of the sworn charges against Judge English, which Murray filed with the Speaker of the House talked about Faris' experience in banking.

Schaffly insisted that he did not know whether Judge English was aware of the interest payments to his son.

"At the time I discussed employing Faris English," Schaffly said, "I told him I would start him out at $150 a month, and when he had a little more experience, I would raise him to $200. At the end of three months he came and remained on of the promise. I thought he was a little premature, but finally agreed to give it to him."

"Didn't you know he wasn't worth that much?" asked Chairman Boies. "I asked Boies, 'that he never would have been employed in your bank if it hadn't been for those deposits?'"

"I wouldn't say that," Schaffly demurred. "He was an intellectual fellow and had sense. He had had some experience in the Riggs National Bank of Washington."

"Who told you that he had had experience?" "His father told me," the witness replied.

Congressman Hersey asked who deposited the funds. The witness replied that the funds were deposited by the trustee in the different bankruptcy cases.

Schaffly testified, under questioning of Hersey, that each month the bank paid Faris English more than $200 as interest on these funds.

"He didn't own the funds," Hersey asked. "No, sir; we gave the money to him as a commission on the bankruptcy funds," Schaffly replied.

Chairman Boies, after the cross-examination, inquired: "As a matter of fact the money was paid to Faris English as interest on the monthly balance of deposits of trustees in bankruptcy?" "Yes, sir," replied the witness.

Congressman Michener obtained the statement from Schaffly that the bankruptcy funds' account was an excellent one for the bank as it was easy to handle, requiring little bookkeeping labor. The interest of 3 per cent was the customary rate of interest paid on all other deposits, and we paid interest on the account because it was a good policy to keep it in the bank," the banker replied.

that Karch and his associates were not denouncing themselves properly. "Yes."

Recalling the day of the so-called "lecture" by Judge English to the three State's Attorneys and three Sheriffs, a member of the committee sought unsuccessfully to learn if any court minutes or record of the remarks was kept by the court reporter. The witness said he later was called into Judge English's chambers, where Charles D. Jones, State's Attorney of Marion County, Ill., had testified. Karch sought to mollify the Judge. The witness said he had searched the memory but couldn't recall what was said.

Testimony seeking to show the Judge English's attitude toward the committee on the bench in a tyrannous and oppressive manner was concluded yesterday.

The bill gives patrolmen an increase of $35 a month, increasing their present salaries of $145 a month to $180.

CO-OPERATIVE DAIRY FIRM PLANNED

Members of St. Louis Territory Organizing $150,000 Concern to Combat Price Cut.

As an outgrowth of a long continued fight of Illinois dairymen against the cutting of wholesale prices to $2 a hundredweight
the St. Louis distributors, a price which the producers have considered endangers their livelihood, were announced in East St.
Louis yesterday for the formation of a new co-operative dairy company, capitalized at $150,000 and comprising farmers of the St.
Louis milk territory of Southern Illinois and Missouri.

The company, which is to be known as the Ill-Mo Co-operative, is being organized in line with a program adopted by the convention of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers Association, which met in East St. Louis on Feb. 10, application for a charter, it was stated, will be made at Springfield
this a few days.

Following Filing of Complaint.
The announcement follows a movement of the heels of a complaint filed with the Attorney-General of the state by officers of the association, March 17, in which it was stated that many producers had been driven out of business this summer, plunging the city into a milk famine, unless some relief could be obtained.

The new concern will succeed
the Illinois-Missouri Co-operative Milk Producers Association, which
now is in the hands of a receiver, and the plan calls for the purchase of the plant formerly occupied by the defunct concern at 116 Missouri avenue. Five additional plants comprising part of the bankrupt organization's assets, all will be taken over.

According to Ara E. Richardson, one of the organizers, $50,- 000 of common stock will be authorized at a par value of $10 and $100,000 of preferred stock at $50 per share. The common stock is to be subscribed by among farmers and be preferred sold to investors.

Directors of New Concern.
The following investors have been named as directors: Fred Ta-ver of Edwardsville; R. H. Isaacson, Illinois; F. W. Schroeder, Richmond; Fred Reis, O'Fallon; George Ablandt, Carlyle; Frank Oexner, Waterloo; Otto Haller, Okawville;
James Lyons, Oakdale, and O. C.
Creech of Robertsville, Mo.

The purpose of the company, according to Richardson, is to sell milk and milk products in St.
Louis and vicinity at a lower price than prevails at present and at the same time increase the price paid to producers. Under a similar plan now in operation at Quincy, Ill., Richardson said, milk is being sold to the consumer for 10 cents a quart while in St. Louis the price is 13 cents. On the other hand, he pointed out, Quincy producers are getting $2.75 a hundred pounds while $2 obtained by producers in the St. Louis district.

COOLIDGE INDORSSES MEETING
By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, O., March 25.—
The movement for adjustment of race relations was indorsed by President Coolidge in a letter read before the National Interracial Conference, which opened here last night. Addressed to George E.
Haynes, secretary of the Commission on the Church and Racial Relations, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the letter read:

"The evidence of developing public opinion in support of co-operation among the racial groups in this country is a matter of satisfaction to all who have the nation's best interests at heart. The development of interracial understanding through co-operative plans, and the action of leaders of the races in local communities, has contributed greatly to this increasing good will.
I feel that the National Interracial Conference, called to bring local leaders from many states to exchange experiences and compare methods and plans, is worthy of interest and support by all who are interested in effective adjustment of race relations. I send my best wishes for success to the two commissions and to this interracial conference."

YOUTH CONFESSES KILLING FATHER OF GIRL HE ADMIRER

Frank Winsted, 20, Tells Police He Stabbed William Updegraff to Death in Self-Defense.

William Updegraff had quarreled with the young admirer of his 16-year-old daughter, Irene, that much the police knew after Updegraff, a roofer, 40 years old, was fatally stabbed at his home, 1934 O'Fallon street, last Friday night. Two youths who had been barred from the home were arrested and because of a doubtful alibi were held. Last night another admirer—Frank Winsted, 20, of 1718 Mississippi avenue—was summoned to police headquarters for questioning.

The examination had barely started when Winsted interrupted. "I killed him," he said quietly. "Listen, and I'll tell you all about it."

Surprise to Detectives. It was a complete surprise to the detectives. Winsted had not been accused of murder, nor had he been suspected. A clue, at most, was all they expected to get from him. His startling admission was followed by a detailed confession, which he signed, in which he stated that he stabbed Updegraff in self-defense after trying vainly to patch up a previous quarrel.

Updegraff was found Friday evening three blocks from his home, stabbed near the heart, and died on the way to city hospital. That the fight occurred in his kitchen was proved by the complete disorder of broken dishes and furniture there.

"He chased me out of the house one night about two hours late to call on Irene," Winsted related. "That was two weeks ago, and I stayed away because I was afraid of him. Then Updegraff met my brother, John, and told him to tell me everything was all right; I could come over. I went over Friday night to make it up with him, and had to kill him to save myself."

Winsted related that he found Updegraff in the kitchen alone, reading a paper. Irene and her mother were out. Updegraff was friendly, Winsted said, and waved him to a chair.

He told him that he was sick, that he had strained his back carrying a sack of cement, and had to stay home. Winsted continued: "He was telling me about a new job he wanted, when suddenly he jumped up and went into the bedroom. I picked up his paper and started to read. I heard a noise and looked up and he was standing in the doorway. He had taken off his shirt and his fists were doubled up and his face looked crazy mad. "He shook his fist at me and shouted, 'I'm going to get you for that last argument we had.' Then he picked up a plate and threw it at me and crushed a cup in his fist. I ran for the door but he grabbed me with both hands by the neck, but I put my hand under his chin and pushed him away. I had my hand on the doorknob when he grabbed my shoulder and pulled me back."

Winsted related that he washed blood from his hands when he got home, scrubbed two blood stains from his trousers, and went quietly to bed.

Updegraff staggered out of the house and was found in front of 2132 Ridge street. A blood trail led to his kitchen door where they found his daughter. "Mama and I left papa in bed sick," she said. "And the house is all blood and he is gone."

CRITICISM OF MILLSPAUGH IN LINCOLN CASE

His Attorneys and Agents in Housing Trust Re-ceivership Got $40,000
in Fees, It Is Alleged.

THEN LOST INTEREST,
ATTORNEY CHARGES

Allegations Made in Petition Filed in Behalf of an Investor in the Defunct Concern.

In an amended petition filed yesterday in Circuit Judge Miller's court by Attorney Ephraim Caplan to recover $1300 for a client,
Charles J. Corbett, in the Lincoln Savings and Loan Co., criticism is made of Frank C. Millspaugh, suspended State Finance Commissioner, in his method of handling the receivership of the Lincoln Housing Trust, which, with his approval, was reorganized into the loan association.

Corbett originally held a membership certificate in the housing trust but he and others agreed to exchange their certificates for membership in the loan company after Commissioner Millspaugh had approved the plan of reorganization.

The allegation is made that Commissioner Millspaugh, in his capacity as receiver, reported to court, in approving the plan, that the loan company was then functioning, although, it is alleged, it was not functioning and was not taking in new members. The amended petition further sets forth that plaintiff did not know this at the time, but had no reason to suspect to the contrary, as he was relying on representations of the Finance Commissioner.

Attorneys' Fees Criticized.
It is pointed out in the suit that in the receivership of the Lincoln Housing Trust, Commissioner Millspaugh employed "close friends and political allies" as counsel. In whose behalf he recommended legal fees in the amount of $40,000, when such service could have been obtained by him through the office of the Attorney-General of Missouri for comparatively a nominal cost.

"After his agents and attorneys,"
the petition continues, "were allowed such large sums of money,
the Finance Commissioner evinced no further interest in the affairs of the certificate holders and has failed and refused to give certificate holders, who made the transfer and who, thereafter, became alarmed, any information touching the nature or status of the association."

A year ago Thomas E. Francis,
Vital W. Garesche, Arthur E.
Freund and the law firm of Sulkey & Jones were allowed a total of $22,000 by Judge Frey after testimony had been submitted concerning the amount of service rendered by them. To the law firm of Jones, Hocke, Sullivan & Angert was allowed $12,000 for services in reorganizing the company.
Attorney Caplan claims that other attorneys also have received fees
in the receivership.

Object of Amended Petition.
The amended petition was filed to meet an objection raised in a demurrer that under law it was the duty of the State Finance Commissioner to bring the suit, which also asks for a receiver, and that Corbett had no right to appear as plaintiff.

In this connection the argument pleads that any law purporting to vest the sole right of action in the Finance Commissioner for the redress of plaintiff's wrongs is depriving the plaintiff of his property without due process of law and is discriminatory and violates the Constitution. The new petition points out that Millspaugh has been temporarily suspended from office and is being investigated by the Attorney-General because of alleged misconduct in office "and that a vacancy now exists in said office."

Caplan said he also represents other clients who desire to surrender their certificates in the loan association. The Corbett petition asks that a receiver be appointed to conserve the assets of the Lincoln Savings and Loan Association and to make a pro rata distribution thereof to creditors and certificate holders.

Belated contributions to the Post-Dispatch Christmas Festival Fund have increased the sum collected for the twenty-fifth annual hospital to $17,570.21. This amount exceeds by more than $1500 the fund raised in 1923, when a previous record was set, with a total of $16,100.

Figures show a substantial increase in the scope of the Festival organization's work with the gradual growth of donations, particularly in the number of families who are provided with Christmas dinners through the activities of the Basket Committee. The limited capacity of the Coliseum has confined the number of children who witness the mammoth Santa Claus entertainment to 10,000 for a number of years.

Warning Against Desert Settlement

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 26.—A warning against promiscuous settlement of Mohave desert lands in California was issued today by the Interior Department. Hundreds of applications for homestead and land entries in the desert are being received, apparently as a result of recent publication of accounts of how a few individuals cheaply acquired water-bearing lands of great potential value. The general land office pointed out that the Mohave, largely unsurveyed, is of a sandy soil not readily adaptable to cultivation; that most of the best lands already have been entered and that attempts at homesteading may prove expensive as well as unprofitable.

CITIZENS' BODY PICKS CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Committee of 3000 Selects Slate by Ballot and Announces Vigorous Campaign Will Be Waged.

A vigorous campaign will be waged in behalf of the five candidates for the Board of Education selected by ballot of the 3000 members of the Citizens' School Board Committee, it was announced by Samuel B. McPheeters, a member of the Executive Committee, who presided at a mass meeting of the organization held last night at Central High School. The result of the balloting, which was conducted by mail among the membership was announced at the meeting.

Each of the following candidates was declared to have received a substantial majority:

For the six-year term: Ernest A. Green, member of the law firm of Garesche, Green & Remmers, a former Circuit Judge and former Assistant Attorney-General of Missouri; Isaac Lippincott, professor of economics at Washington University, author of books and magazine articles on education; Mrs. Elias Michael, present member of the Board of Education, who is endorsed for re-election by many organizations; John C. Tobin, lawyer, member of the board and at the present time its presiding officer.

For the two-year (unexpired) term: Myrt A. Rollins, lawyer, of the firm of Rollins & Balch, former member of the Legislature and general president of the Public School Patrons' Alliance.

The announcement was made by the Balloting Committee that a ballot with a letter was mailed to each member, with the explanation that votes could be cast according to the individual judgment of the member for any candidates in the race, stressing the importance of selecting the best candidates for the places to be filled. This committee comprised Mrs. Irvin Bettmann, chairman; Mrs. Laura S. Edwards, Lansing F. Smith, Samuel T. Larkin and Walter J. Stradal. The committee stated that every effort had been made to find the best candidates, but to be fair to all candidates, and it believed that the expression of the committee was a democratic one.

To Keep Board Out of Politics. Rollins was one of the candidates endorsed by the Public School Patrons' Alliance, the others being Emil J. Barth, John S. Marsalek, Henry P. Schroeder and Robert H. Ballman, the latter four for the six-year term. The alliance candidates were endorsed at a mass meeting by a vote of those present, and afterwards it asked that other organizations manifest a hands-off policy in the School Board election. The membership of the Citizens' Committee is said to be a cross-section of St. Louis life, representative of every civic interest of the city.

Of the candidates endorsed by the committee, three are Republicans and two are Democrats. The Republicans are Lippincott, Mrs. Michael and Rollins, and the Democrats, Green and Tobin. All, both in answers to questionnaires submitted by the committee and at the meeting last night, declared themselves in favor of nonpartisan action on all matters pertaining to the public schools.

McPheeters, who presided at the meeting, explained the aims and purposes of the committee of 3000 to be an effort on the part of citizens interested in education and in an honest and nonpartisan school administration to choose and get behind the candidacy of the five candidates who, in the judgment of the committee, are thoroughly qualified by experience, standing in community affairs and in education for so important a trust. The effort, he said, is to keep the School Board out of politics and protect the interests of the children of the city.

Candidates Speak. McPheeters introduced the candidates who were chosen, each of whom delivered a short address pledging an unselfish and efficient service if elected, free from political influence.

Circuit Judge Rosskopf, who resigned recently as a member of the School Board to accept the appointment to the bench, in a brief address declared that the position of a School Board member was a place of honor and trust, but not of profit. He said there had been times in the past, prior to the adoption of the present charter under which the school system is administered, when it had been used for profit. There is a real responsibility resting on members of the board, he said, requiring their time and a loyal service in the interest of the schools and the children of the city. He said that last year the board expended more than $10,000,000 in running the schools, and he placed a value of $50,000,000 on the school property, including books and fixtures.

SAYS U. S. IS READY TO HELP MISSOURI REBUILD FORESTS

Government Official Asserts Legislative Request Will Bring 100,000-Acre Tract.

If the Legislature will pass a resolution asking the Government to purchase lands in Missouri, the Government will lay out one or more 100,000-acre forests without cost to Missouri, according to E. A. Sherman, Associate United States Forester, who yesterday addressed the convention of lumber dealers of Central and Eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois at Hotel Chase.

Sherman said the forests of Missouri are speedily being used up and that they should be re-habitated. A great part of the lumber used in the State comes from the south and northwest, he said, and freight charges costs the people of Missouri about $5,000,000 each year.

According to Sherman, the greatest amount of lumber ever cut in the State was in 1899, when the sawmills turned out 723,754,000 feet. In 1923 the sawmill production decreased 178,810,000 feet. He suggested a forester be employed to make a survey of forest conditions, and that a forest re-habilitation plan be based on this survey.

Former County Judge Ends Life.

BUCKLIN, Mo., March 25.—George W. Nester, 70 years old, killed himself at his home here yesterday by shooting through the heart. He was a native of this county and for many years was a farmer. About 15 years ago he retired and moved to Bucklin. He held the office of Justice of the Peace for 30 years and was Judge of the county court of Linn County for several terms. His wife survives.

Women Praise Alaska's Fair Methods

"See the Cork That Saves the Ice"
BEFORE YOU BUY

"I have always felt, when buying a Refrigerator, like I was paying my money for a chance at a grab bag—buying a 'pig in a poke,' so to speak. Even though the name of the maker was respected, this was true. My recent experience of buying my new Alaska, with the wonderful little Cork-Wall Window through which I can actually see the cork which you use inside the walls, was such an agreeable surprise and so thrilling an experience that I couldn't help writing you. I know that thousands of women will thank you for taking the mystery out of Refrigerator buying. I look into the Cork-Wall Window every day."

Women everywhere seem to appreciate the openness of Alaska methods. For the first time they have been let in on the secret of Refrigerator wall construction.

They know that cork holds in the cold and saves ice better than almost any other material. They know the Alaska is nationally advertised to be Cork Insulated. Then through the Cork-Wall Window—an exclusive feature—we let them "see the cork that saves the ice" with their own eyes. Naturally no further guaranty—no further argument is necessary.

You will appreciate this Cork-Wall Window. You will also appreciate the fine workmanship—the seamless porcelain or enamel interior, the sanitary, rounded corners, seal-tight doors, air-tight drain and other features of this famous food protector.

There is a size for every size family and a price for every income. See the local Alaska dealer for a demonstration.

EXPLORERS FIND GOLD

RING 30 CENTURIES OLD

May Fix Date of Founding of Utica at Earlier Than 1200 B. C.

Following is another of the series of articles to be published in the Post-Dispatch on the De Prorok expedition in Northern Africa, expected to result in some of the most important of archaeological discoveries of recent years.

By COUNT BYRON KUHN DE PROROK.

By Wireless.

(Copyright, 1925, by the New York Times.)

EXCAVATION CAMP, UTICA, Tunisia, March 25.—Gleaming with the rich color which 30 centuries of aging can produce, a gold seal ring appeared in the powdery dust of a large Punic sarcophagus was opened here today.

That little bauble, which was so curiously gilded, was the most interesting find we have made so far this season. It may shake the traditional date for the founding of Utica, making it even earlier than the twelfth century B. C. It may throw a valuable beam of light on the extension of Egyptian influence, for this ring is not Phoenician, it is Egyptian and the symbol its seal bears is believed to be that of Tutankhamen, who reigned before Tutankhamen and was famed for his explorations.

Important Archeologically.

One ring, even though backed up as this one is by amulets carved with the same exquisite workmanship, does not, of course, in itself disclose any fact, but it does start many suggestive trains of thought which may bring us to other evidences and unexpected conclusions.

For the present, I must leave the story of how this ring came from Egypt to this faraway anonymous tomb to the Romantics, whose imaginations the subject may well fascinate. The only definite statement we can now make is that it is certainly the oldest object yet found here and that, though small, the ring is, archeologically, a most important object.

The thing which has made the countryside around once-populous Utica throng again to the now completely buried city is the fact that we discovered yesterday three big Punic sarcophagi. They have all been found 12 to 13 feet under the surface, where a few days ago droves of pigs were rooting for food—disturbing the mighty men of Utica no more than Omar's wild ass awakened Bahram, that great hunter. It is small wonder for all three tombs are carved out of single blocks of sandstone, more than a yard square and eight and a half feet long, with walls a foot thick and a lid 20 inches through.

Empty Pottery Amphora.

Despite the sarcophagi containing the ring was found cracked in two. Above it, at the foot, was an empty pottery amphora, 47 inches high, capable of holding more than 10 gallons of liquid food, which it is believed was originally placed there for the dead. Such an amphora is not usually found with sarcophagi of this kind.

Lying on top of the tomb was another valuable relic, a miniature Punic column of ivory six inches long, which is unique in our collection.

The skeleton was far better preserved than any we have hitherto found. The thigh bones, buff colored with age, being almost intact.

The first tomb opened yesterday, though unbroken, yielded treasure less important to science but of certain human interest. Only two things were found within it, a bronze razor and bits of rouge, forming a peculiar combination, suggesting to the facetious members of the party that the bobbed-hair fad is not so new as is thought. There was nothing to show the sex of the person buried in the tomb, the only part of the skeleton remaining being the teeth, which still preserved the form of the jaw, though the bone which held them had turned to dust.

No Inscription on Tomb.

There is unfortunately no inscription on the tombs.

We hope fully to uncover and open the third one tomorrow.

Among the crowd present at the opening were my associate, Abbe Moulard; Count Jean Chadanne; La Palice, owner of the farm of which buried Utica forms a fraction; George E. Swain, University of Michigan; Maj. F. C. Short, McGill University; Mrs. Edward Stoeber of Paris, and Countess de Prorok.

PLEA FOR MILLER CAMPAIGN GIFTS SENT TO CITY HALL

City Committee Calls on "the Boys" to Support Nominee, Sending Thanks in Advance.

A call for contributions and an injunction to support Victor J. Miller for Mayor is contained in a letter sent by the Republican City Central Committee to the department heads at City Hall.

The letter speaks of the "wonderful strides of progress made by our city under tried Republican administration," and states that the proper enforcement of law "is assured under the leadership of our candidate, Victor J. Miller."

It indicates that all vestiges of difference between Miller and the "City Hall machine" have been patched up and, to all outward purposes, forgotten.

City Committee Letter.
The letter is signed by Louis J. Becker, chairman of the City Committee. It reads:

"The wonderful strides of progress made by our city under tried Republican administration prompts every citizen who has the interests of the city at heart to be advised of the tremendous task of continuing Republican methods of efficiency and good government by electing a Republican administration on April 7."

"To fulfill the objectives of the bond issue will require economic Republican methods. Our city in order to attain the highest degree of progress must have proper enforcement of the law. This is assured under the leadership of our candidate, Victor J. Miller."

Large Amount of Work.
"To accomplish these civic necessities requires an enormous amount of work at some expense, and we solicit your assistance by a voluntary contribution. Will you please mail your check, made payable to the Republican Central Committee, for which we thank you in advance."

The letter is interpreted as an invitation to department heads to remind the office employees and others that contributions are in order. Although the City Charter forbids assessments, it is customary for a good Republican jobholder to contribute about 10 per cent of one month's salary, for campaign expenses.

TEAPOT DOME TRIAL ENDS, COUNSEL WILL FILE BRIEFS

By the Associated Press.
CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 26.—Trial of the Government's suit to annul the Teapot Dome oil lease ended in United States District Court here at 11:40 a. m. today.

The closing moments of the case were marked by a verbal exchange between Owen J. Roberts and counsel for the defense, after the latter had accused the Government attorney of going outside the record in his address.

Judge Kennedy gave the Government 15 days to submit a brief and the defense 15 days to reply.

Roberts argued that the court was "bound to take judicial notice" of the congressional resolution of Senator Walsh passed Feb. 8, 1924, declaring the Teapot lease unlawful and contrary to the national policy of keeping the oil reserves intact.

"Do you mean," asked Judge Kennedy, "that the Court must take judicial notice of an act passed subsequent to these negotiations?"

"Yes, sir," said Roberts. He then quoted a decision of the Supreme Court declaring that congressional acts passed later than acts involved in litigation may be used by courts in interpreting the intent of laws where such interpretation is in doubt.

"We do not expect, your honor, to write a decision on the argument of defense counsel that Congress had a burning desire to take the oil out of the reserves," said Roberts.

"And I don't think I'll write a decision on a subsequent resolution, by a new Congress, hearing on the act of 1920," replied Judge Kennedy.

ANTON HUEBLER, FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE HERE, DIES AT 88

Anton Huebler, 88 years old, a veteran of the Civil War and former Chief of Police, died today. Private funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday from the residence, 2710 Russell boulevard.

Huebler was born in Germany. He was brought to this country when he was 4 years old. He began adult life as a stone mason. When the Civil War broke out the young man enlisted in the Union army, later obtaining a commission.

Following his discharge from the army, he joined the St. Louis Police Department. Three years later he was promoted to a sergeant. In March, 1871, he became a Captain, and 15 years later was appointed Chief of Police. When the administration changed four years later he was reduced to a captaincy. On Sept. 15, 1894, he was retired.

His wife, Mrs. Emma Huebler, is dead. He is survived by one son, Edmund Huebler. Capt. Huebler was a member of Frank P. Blair Post No. 1, G. A. R.

Ask for Joint-Ease and Get Rid of Stiff, Swollen, Painful Joints

Whether Rheumatic or otherwise—depend upon this new discovery for quickest action.

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, painful joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, arch, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 7th and Washington, Joder & Tabor Drug Stores and druggists everywhere for 99 cents a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint misery gets out—quick.

Yes—you rinse instead of rub the clothes clean.

This new kind of soap loosens all the dirt—works for you—leaves you only the rinsing....

NOW in a million homes wash-day has lost its terrors. In these houses light-hearted women turn to dainty tasks or delicious idleness while the wonderful new kind of laundry soap does their washing for them.

With all the hard work of standing over the tubs gone, washday is shorter, cheerier, easier. Earlier than ever heaps of snowy, sweet-smelling linen are waiting—ready to be put away.

For all the old hard work of rubbing and rubbing to get soap through the fibres of their clothes these women just substitute Rinso granules dissolved in boiling water. At once the wash water is full of more good cleansing power than ever before.

The satiny lather penetrates the closest weaves, gently loosens and floats out the dirt. Only the most stubborn spots may require a little light rubbing with dry Rinso between the hands. Your work on washday becomes just the lighter work of rinsing.

And how fresh and clean the rinsing leaves the clothes—the colors bright and new, white things snowy and fragrant.

"Saves me so much time with the children's little gingham," wrote one mother. "Now I can let John and Dorothy play freely without eternally nagging about keeping their clothes neat. If they get dirty—never mind. Rinso is so quick and easy that I no longer worry."

Use Rinso the way you like best to wash, for soaking or boiling—whatever your method, you will find Rinso does the hard work for you. It is perfect for washing machines. Twenty-two leading makers of washing machines recommend it.

Rinso is not only wonderful for the weekly wash. Thousands of women have written us how quick it is for washing dishes, porcelain sinks and bathtubs, floors and linoleums. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

STRIKES CALLED SUDDENLY IN ALL ITALIAN CITIES

Fascisti Government Thus Far Unable to Obtain Settlement and Employers Are Restless.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, March 26.—Premier Mussolini made his first appearance in the Chamber of Deputies today since his recent illness.

When he entered, followed by all the Cabinet members, the entire body, with the exception of the communists, rose and gave him an enthusiastic demonstration in which the galleries joined.

Mussolini stood by the center of the ministerial benches bowing to his followers. When silence was restored the communists set up the cry "Viva Communism." The remainder of the chamber arose, and shouted in reply "Viva Mussolini, viva Fascism," and sang the Fascist hymn.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Geneva, 1935 by the Press and Outlook Publishing Co., the New York World.

GENEVA, March 26.—Rocks rise across the course of the Fascist Government of Italy.

While the hand of Premier Mussolini has become too weak to control the helm, dissatisfaction has spread both in the ranks of labor and among the captains of industry.

The latest serious civil problem is the sudden reappearance of strikes in all industrial centers.

Farinacci's efforts have failed to end them. Thus many captains of industry accuse the Government of a breach of faith. They condemn the inept Fascist unions and demand that negotiations be carried on only with the Socialist Confederation of Labor, which still holds labor's affections and confidence.

These industrial leaders demand that Farinacci make possible the return of skilled hands whom the Fascist have exiled to France and elsewhere for being Socialists.

On the other hand, the masses are unable to exist on present wages, which have only 80 per cent of the buying power of pre-war pay. Food has risen 500 per cent.

Confederation of Labor leaders have told the correspondent that they mean to continue strikes until the industrialists sign a pact with them, not the Fascist, raising the minimum wage. But as they fear Federzoni will not hesitate to order their dissolution, they mean to work cautiously.

Socialists Optimistic.
The immediate future calls for astute Governmental action. Federzoni must now conciliate the industrialists, promising them a favorable commercial treaty with Germany, which Berlin is unwilling to conclude, and also promising more paper inflation if the strikers succeed in obtaining higher wages.

The Socialists, who are optimistic, consider the present regime to be like war, which must end some day, perhaps suddenly. Therefore they are striving by intense secret propaganda to prepare the voters. Senator Agnelli, owner of the Fiat automobile works at Turin, has refused to have any dealings with the Fascist unions.

PROPOSE NEW PARKING LAW FOR CENTRAL TRAFFIC ZONE

Council Would Stop Parking East of 18th from Franklin to Market During Day.

Parking east of Eighteenth street from Franklin avenue on the north to Market street on the south would be prohibited between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. by a proposition approved by the Traffic Central Committee of the St. Louis Safety Council last night. The measure will be submitted at once to the Police Board and the Board of Aldermen with recommendation that these bodies take immediate action to put the regulation into effect. The area would be called the "Central Traffic District."

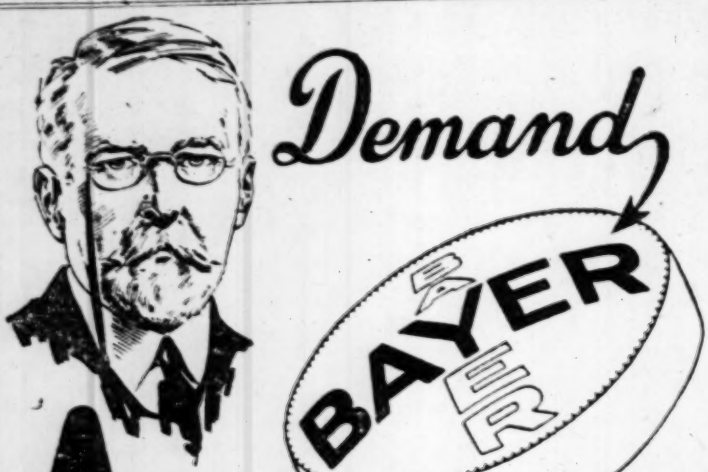

A discussion of the pedestrian traffic problem led to a recommendation that pedestrians be compelled to heed the stop and go signs now in use for vehicular traffic.

At a meeting of the Traffic Council yesterday, Allen C. Orrick, president of the Police Board, recommended that a sticker be placed on the machine of a parking law violator mean an arrest in the future. The recommendation was subsequently adopted.

HOUSE MERRILY KILLS JUDGES' SALARY BILL

Democrats Arise En Masse to Change Votes After Measure
Has a Majority.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 25.—A night of merriment the House would have been if the House had not slaughtered a bill which would have increased the salaries of St. Louis Circuit Judges from $10,000 a year, through the indirect device of establishing a Board of Parole, comprising all Circuit Judges. For the "additional" duties on the board, each judge would receive $2000 a year, in addition to his present salary. The bill also provided for appointment of a Probation Officer and an unlimited number of deputies. In the course of humorous debate over the bill, Representative George G. Reel (Rep.) of St. Louis suggested there was a serious typographical error in the title of the bill. He stated the title, as printed, provided for establishment of a "parole board," when it actually should read "payroll board." Speaker Jones Parker, who had introduced the bill, made a lighthearted speech for it, and suggested the members could vote "aye" if they wished. Members on the Democratic side passed the word down the aisles to vote for the measure, and they did so solidly. Immediately at the conclusion of the roll call they arose en masse to change their votes from "aye" to "no." The "ayes" recorded in the roll call, at one time more than enough to pass the bill, faded away under the clerk's erasures until about a dozen favorable votes were left. Representative Winter, speaker pro tem, counted up the changed votes and announced the result as "ayes" 2; "noes" 120, a new record.

Immediately there was a rush to the clerk's desk by several members of the St. Louis delegation, who have business on occasions in the courts, to get their names officially recorded on the roll call as voting "aye."

Circuit Judges Landwehr and Hamilton were here yesterday in the interest of the bill and conferred with Parker, who had introduced the bill by request. Parker had brought the bill out for third reading and final passage in the House several days ago, but pushed it to the informal calendar when general opposition developed. Desire of the judges to have the bill put to a vote resulted in its slaughter.

The bill provided that the judges, sitting as a parole board at least once a week, should hear and pass upon any applications for paroles in cases handled in the Circuit Courts. Had the bill passed, it would have added $22,000 a year to the salary bill of the city of St. Louis, plus the salaries for the corps of probation officers.

40 YEARS IN BRAIN RESEARCH

German Psychiatrist in U. S. to Conduct Experiments.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Emil Krepelin, alienist and head of the psychiatry department in the University of Munich, has arrived to continue his 40 years' research into manifestations of brain disease. He will conduct experiments in Washington, Canton, D. C., and Mexico, observing general paralysis among Indians in an asylum of Mexico City.

Discussing the effect of modern civilization upon the nerve system, he said: "Your young men are compelled to advance 100 years in the same time that we in Europe are advancing a quarter of a century. Such intense living," he continued, "surrounded by luxuries and exciting influence would tend to work havoc with the nerve system. However, it may be we shall find that speed in living, such as you know it here, is advantageous in race development instead of being destructive."

JEANNE EAGELS IN OLD ROLE

Will Return to Star Part in St. Louis Engagement of "Rain."

Jeanne Eagles, who had to leave the cast of "Rain" on account of illness when she was playing the star role in this play in Cleveland two weeks ago, will return to her original part of Sadie Thompson when that attraction opens at the American Theater next Monday night.

With the exception of the two weeks when she was ill, Miss Eagles has now been playing this role for nearly three years, having appeared in it first Oct. 10, 1922 at the Garrick Theater, Philadelphia. After a two-weeks stay there she began her engagement in New York which lasted more than two years. Since leaving that city she has appeared in five other cities.

SAYS ENGLISH

ready for another call to the witness stand. The committee took a 15-minute recess, and upon reconvening, Dennis announced that Mrs. Thayer wanted to return to correct her testimony.

"The correction I wish to make," she began in a low voice, "is this: the committee asked me if I could recall any specific instance where there was a division of money, to which I answered in the negative. But now I understand that the committee wished, not the name of the case, but whether there was ever a division of a fee in my presence. As to that, I can only say that one day two men approached the cage and laid down a roll of bills. Judge English was in the office, and Referee Thomas just handed him half of it. Now, I don't know how much money was in the roll."

Asked how big it was she indicated with her hands, and added: "I should imagine the stack they laid down there was about an inch and a half or two inches high. And that," she continued, "is the only time I ever saw money paid and divided. I have seen them pass money, but that is the only time I saw it paid, and then saw the division."

Dennis turned her over to the defense immediately. O'Hare tried to learn the approximate date of the incident.

"I only know," said Mrs. Thayer, "that these two men frequently came into the office, and I understood that Judge Thomas represented them before Judge English." She described the transaction in more detail.

"The man came up to the wicket and asked for Mr. Thomas. He was standing inside the office, talking to Judge English. Mr. Thomas went to the wicket, and they pushed the money through. He took it, picked off what appeared to be half of it, and handed it to Judge English."

"Did he count it?" "No, I am positive he did not—just divided it, and handed half over to Judge English."

Saw No Receipt Given.

"How close were you to this transaction?" "About four feet."

She didn't remember whether any others of the office force were present. She didn't know the men except by sight, but could identify them. One was medium stature, the other stout. She didn't recall anything that was said at the time, either by the two men, Thomas, or Judge English. She saw no receipt given, either by Thomas to the men, or by Judge English to Thomas.

Further questioning elicited that her understanding that the men were defendants in a case in Judge English's court was simply an impression. O'Hare asked why she hadn't remembered the incident on her first appearance, and she said she didn't know she could relate it unless she knew the names of the men, and the names of the case. She thought she must "adhere strictly to the facts and give the details," which she felt unable to do.

The witness testified the men frequently had been closeted with Thomas in his private office.

"Size Impressed Me."

"What was the color of the money they gave Mr. Thomas?" asked O'Hare. "Was it green or yellow?" "I don't remember. The color didn't impress me; it was the size that impressed me," she retorted.

"As a matter of fact, don't you know these men were bootleggers?" Congressman Tillman flashed at her. She insisted she didn't, and stuck to it. She did understand that they were being defended by Thomas, and she presumed it was in Judge English's court. She was excused, to remain on call.

"RIGOLETTO" GIVEN SPIRITED PRESENTATION AT ODEON

Mme. Tina Paggi Pleasing in Her Debut Here in Role of Gilda.

In the hands of a spirited cast, Verdi's "Rigoletto" appeared as fresh and vital last night at the Odeon as if it were in its first instead of its seventeenth-odd year. Mme. Tina Paggi, substituting for Josephine Lucchese, who is ill in Denver, made her St. Louis debut as Gilda. Her voice has that fluttering, rarified timbre which seems to spring only in Italian throats. At her best, she impressed one as the most pleasing coloratura the "San Carlo" management has presented here since Quenna Mario; unfortunately, her singing was decidedly uneven.

Mario Basiola's sister was once more a striking feat, both in acting and singing, and Demetrio Onofre, as the Duke, won the best success he has as yet made in this city. Stella de Mette's familiar Maddalena repeated its coquetry and rich vocalism, and Pietro di Biasi was again the sinister and organ-toned Sparafucile. Fulgencio Guerrieri conducted with eloquence. The attendance continued to be large.

Tonight the troupe will present "Cavalleria Rusticana," with Votteri and Salazar; and "Tosca," with Roselle, Tommasini and Basiola. Instead of a production of "Lohengrin" on Sunday afternoon, it has been decided to give a program of acts from four operas—the Nile scene from "Aida," the wedding scene from "Lohengrin," Act II from "La Tosca," and the "Miserere" scene from "Il Trovatore."

LEWIS BORROWED $12,000,000 FROM "GOOD FRIENDS"

Real Estate Promoter Testifies in Bankruptcy Case He Told Them Chances of Losing Were 97 to 3.

SAYS $8,000,000 ARE UNSECURED

Attorney for Creditors Testifies Cash Receipts of Lewis and His Enterprises Total $23,000,000.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., March 26.—E. G. Lewis, testifying in bankruptcy proceedings here before Referee W. Preston Butcher Jr., said that he borrowed about $12,000,000 for all his various enterprises "from good friends scattered all over the United States, most of whom had been interested in my former enterprises at St. Louis."

Lewis was the founder of University City, suburb of St. Louis, and promoter of enterprises there that collapsed with heavy loss to creditors.

"I told them," he continued, in his testimony yesterday, "when I needed more money for any enterprises and frankly stated that many of these enterprises were of a nature in which there were 97 chances of losing to three of winning and that ordinarily the 97 chances came first. At race tracks if you lose all your money they give you carfare home, but in mining and oil operations if you lose you have to walk home."

"When these bankruptcy proceedings were commenced I was hostile to all parties concerned in bringing them and started in to fight. I was not bankrupt, but the nature of the assets was such that it was impossible to convert them into cash fast enough to satisfy my creditors."

"Somebody Crossed Wires."
"I soon became convinced that instead of a wrecking crew having jumped on me, somebody had got their wires crossed and a construction crew had arrived instead. So I immediately joined forces with them for the sole purpose of paying the creditors 100 cents on the dollar if possible."

"The money loaned me to pay the expenses of promoting the Palos Verdes project is secured by an assignment of my fees and commissions from that project. These fees and commissions are sufficient to pay the Palos Verdes personal loans and leave a balance of $1,500,000 for the unsecured creditors. A million and a half of the other indebtedness, in the form of mortgages on the various Lewis properties is also amply secured."

"The total amount of my unsecured debts is approximately $8,000,000. When the bankruptcy proceedings were commenced, practically all revenue of all my enterprises ceased. I realized that the damage had already been done and that to fight the proceedings meant long and bitter litigation which could only result in a heavy loss to the unsecured creditors. For that reason, through my attorneys, I stipulated that I might be adjudged a bankrupt so that all my assets might be marshalled for the payment of the creditors."

"My sole object in doing this and in everything that I have done since is to see that the creditors get as much of their money back as possible."

Money Sent to Him.

"Since I have been adjudged a bankrupt I have done everything I could to assist the creditors and will continue to do so. As soon as the news was published all over the United States that I was in bankruptcy I began to receive letters and telegrams sending me money to fight with. The largest individual creditor landed in New York the day the papers carried the news and he immediately wired me a thousand dollars."

"Since that time I have received from the unsecured creditors about $80,000."

"The title to most of the substantial assets was in the various corporations I have organized. The corporations were not in bankruptcy and the receiver was not in charge of them. If he had been he had no fund with which to take care of the properties. I have footed the bills for this purpose out of the money that the creditors have sent me since I was adjudged a bankrupt and have also taken over, with the consent of the court, one of the oil properties and continued the drilling operations."

"The present prospects for the wells are good. The Standard Oil has just brought in a gusher adjoining one of these properties. There is about $15,000,000 of unsold real estate in Atascadero and about $1,252,000 at Atascadero Beach at present retail selling prices.

"There is a mortgage on these properties of about $1,500,000. If these properties were thrown on the market at forced sale they probably would not bring the amount of the mortgage on account of their size. The amount that can possibly be realized for the creditors will depend upon the manner in which they are handled and liquidated. I have built three cities and know something of real estate values and problems."

The referee evidently had heard that Lewis, directly or through his wife, had secreted assets and he questioned Lewis closely in this regard. Lewis said: "As far as known every item of assets are included in the schedules filed in this court."

even to the shirt on my back. A complete and accurate bookkeeping record has been kept of every dollar that I or any of these corporations ever received. This record is available for the court and shows when and where every dollar of the money came from, who from, and what it was to be used for, what was done with it, and when it was paid out.

"My creditors were always advised before they made the loans on just what terms the money was to be furnished. If the money was furnished for a special purpose, that amount or more was always used for that purpose."

Asked if he had conveyed large sums to Mrs. Lewis, he replied that on the contrary Mrs. Lewis had mortgaged and then sold her home in St. Louis for $40,000 and loaned him the money to meet payroll and had invested everything else she had in Atascadero and Palos Verdes. He said he owed her more than $60,000, but that she had not filed any claim for it.

Statement of Creditors' Attorney. Oscar L. Willett, attorney for petitioning creditors, said: "I had never met Mr. Lewis before I filed his petition in bankruptcy. I employed Walter E. Hanson, formerly State Bank Examiner for the State of Washington, as auditor for the creditors."

"I had no doubt but Lewis would be indicted soon. He had no intention that the proceedings were to be commenced and the first he knew of it was when we walked in on him, accompanied by a United States Marshal, and demanded all his books and records."

"The auditor was put to work that day and has been on the job with a corps of assistants ever since. I spent about $8,000 trying to get the evidence that I thought must exist. Instead, the auditor found a perfect record of all transactions, that the total cash receipts of Lewis and the Lewis enterprises since 1913 are approximately $23,000,000."

"The auditor found and properly accounted for all but about $400,000 of that amount. The small discrepancy might easily be due to misplacing a ledger card. I have never seen such a remarkably complete and accurate set of records produced in a bankruptcy court. We can say definitely that the books are not only complete, but they account for every dollar Lewis ever received."

Plan for Liquidation.

A plan for the liquidation of the Atascadero estates has been approved by the bankers who hold the mortgages. While the debts other than the secured debts are the personal obligation of Lewis, the title to this real estate is held by the Atascadero Estates Corporation. The Atascadero Estates Corporation is now offering to buy any claims against Lewis or any of the Lewis enterprises and pay for them by issuing real estate receipts for the full amount of the claim with interest. When the holders of $5,000,000 of these claims have assigned their claims to the corporation, the corporation will issue to each creditor a real estate receipt for the full amount of the claim, which can be applied by the creditors toward the purchase of any unsold real estate in Atascadero.

In order to insure that no purchaser will pay more for the property than its present value all the unsold property is being reappraised by two real estate experts, one selected by the attorney for the creditors and one by the bankers holding the mortgages. These appraisers have instructions not to increase the selling price of any lot but to reduce any price they deem to be too high.

The bankers have agreed that when $5,000,000 of these claims have been so assigned, they will not foreclose the mortgages but will permit the creditors to select their land and the bank will release any individual place on the payment of 25 per cent.

"The bankers also agree to that as soon as the $5,000,000 of claims is assigned they will pay up all back taxes and other charges necessary for the preservation of this asset for the unsecured creditors."

Announcement of this plan was first made on March 13. Assignments are coming in at the average rate of $100,000 a day.

The corporation, under this plan is buying the Lewis creditors' claims, but Lewis individually will still owe the amount. The Atascadero Estates Corporation will be substituted as creditor in lieu of all creditors who assign their claims.

The bankruptcy proceedings will be continued in present form to clean up all other matters and for the benefit of creditors who do not assign, and of the Atascadero Estates Corporation as nominee.

Lewis' Own Story. Lewis began his testimony yesterday with the following story of his career: "I left St. Louis in 1913 for California with $20,000 of borrowed money to find Atascadero. I had never heard of the place, but I knew that such a place must exist and that everybody wants to come to California. By the time I found the 23,000-acre ranch, which Atascadero is now situated, I had $500 left. I bought the ranch for

The fight against Pyorrhea is a fight against overwhelming odds. Statistics prove that four out of every five over 40-and-thousands younger too pay Pyorrhea's dreaded toll. Will you?

Be on your guard for signs of Pyorrhea

Just as the stability of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so healthy teeth depend upon healthy gums.

Bleeding gums are the first sign of Pyorrhea's approach. Then they begin to recede and the healthy pink color gives place to a pale, whitish tint. Soon the teeth are loosened, pus pockets form and drain their poisons through the system, often causing indigestion, rheumatism, neuritis and many of the other diseases of mid-life.

Let Forhan's help you

Forhan's For the Gums is a most effective agent in the fight against this insidious disease. It contains just the right proportion of Forhan's Astrinogen (as used by the dental profession) to neutralize oral poison, and keep the gums in a firm, strong, healthy condition. Also, it cleans and whitens the teeth and keeps the mouth sweet, clean and wholesome. Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start using Forhan's once a day.

A ST. LOUIS INSTITUTION

SAYS M'CUTCCHAN TOLD OF PLEDGING COMPANY'S BONDS

Witness Quotes Vice-President of Interstate Co. as Saying He Got Loan to Aid Gorin Bank.

That Jerome R. McCutchan, a central figure in the investigation of the State Finance Department, stated he pledged bonds of the Interstate Casualty Co., of which he was vice president, for a personal loan designed to aid the now defunct Citizens' Trust Co. of Gorin, Mo., of which he was a director, has been testified to in court. Chester Newman, president of the casualty company, gave the testimony before Federal Judge Davis yesterday afternoon in the hearing to evaluate assets of the casualty company, which is in the hands of a receiver. The hearing has been continued to next Thursday.

Newman related that D. B. Lightner, secretary of the casualty company, had placed certain bonds belonging to the company in custody of the Telegraphers' National Bank here, obtaining a receipt for them, which later Lightner turned over to McCutchan. Newman said that McCutchan told him afterwards that he had obtained the receipt and had made use of the bonds as collateral on his personal loan, explaining that his purpose was to aid the Gorin bank.

McCutchan, as is known, was mentioned repeatedly in the confession of Roy T. Myers, cashier of the Gorin bank, in which Myers admitted many violations of the banking laws. On Tuesday, McCutchan was arrested under a grand larceny warrant, charging him with stealing a note he had executed from the bank.

Loan Made by Telegraphers' Bank. Newman did not explain the purpose of depositing the bonds with the Telegraphers' National. However, an apparent connection was established by the testimony earlier in the day of Joseph G. Campbell, assistant cashier of the Telegraphers' Bank.

Campbell said that his bank, on April 14, 1924, loaned $15,000 to one G. C. Hill, giving a cashier's check, which, when cashed, was indorsed by McCutchan, J. L. McNatt, who had been associated in some of McCutchan's dealings, and by J. H. Wood, the latter a stranger to Campbell.

Security on this loan was $50,000 in "kitt edge" bonds which had been stored at the bank under joint custody of the State Insurance Department and the Interstate Casualty Co., to meet the requirements of the insurance laws. Campbell said he did not know whether his bank still was keeping the bonds.

Morgan of Insurance Companies. Newman testified about financial arrangements by which the American General Indemnity Co., which McCutchan had organized, McNatt and others being associated with him, had been merged with the Interstate Casualty Co. The substance of Newman's statements follows:

In the latter part of 1923 McCutchan and McNatt bought 13,500 shares of Interstate stock, worth $87,500 at the par of $5 a share, and pledged securities owned by the indemnity company as security for payment. The casualty company had increased its capitalization from $200,000 to $300,000 and moved its headquarters from Birmingham, Ala., to St. Louis.

When directors of the casualty company met on Jan. 21, 1924, McCutchan induced them to deposit $87,500 in the Citizens' Trust

Co. of Gorin for 30 days, with which to do business, while the removal from Birmingham was completed. Checks were drawn against this account and within a few days Secretary Lightner of the casualty company was requested in a letter from the Gorin bank to "ease up" its withdrawals. Newman remarked that he had never before heard of such a request from a bank. The inference was that the withdrawals were straining the bank's resources.

The casualty company loaned $85,000 to McCutchan, McNatt, and Hill, who also was a director of the company. In order to obtain this cash the company sold high-class municipal bonds of Montgomery, Ala.; Jackson County, Ala.; and Upshur County, Tex. Telegraphers' National being the purchaser. Another loan of $50,000 to McCutchan and A. H. Myers was authorized by the casualty directors, April 28, 1924, after one of the directors, Dr. John H. Wood, president of Culver-Stockton College, Canton, Mo., had declared that this would aid in remedying difficulties of the Gorin bank. Myers is secretary of the Chillicothe (Mo.) Furniture Co. and a brother of Cashier Myers of the Gorin bank. Newman quoted Dr. Wood as saying the Myers family was "worth half a million dollars," and assuring the board the company would not lose by the loan. Newman said he objected to the second loan until assured there would be $145,000 collateral and an extension of time for payment. The casual company then borrowed $50,000 from the Franklin Bank here, giving as security the securities pledged by McCutchan and McNatt.

Reverting to Campbell's testimony, he related that a $250 check drawn by McCutchan on his personal account in Telegraphers' National had been dishonored because of insufficient funds, but was charged to the casualty company account.

Entirely different Cured-grass CHEESE

Welsh Rarebit

It is impossible to make a good rarebit with any but cured cheese. Current cheese is most unsatisfactory because it strings in melting.

To 1/4 cup milk add slowly tablespoonful melted butter, teaspoon cornstarch, cook about 2 minutes or until thick and smooth. Add 1/2 lb. Kroger's Cream Cheese (mashed), continue cooking until melted, season with salt, pepper, mustard and paprika. Serve on toast.

for Sandwiches

No doubt the most popular use for Cream Cheese is in sandwiches, and what a difference when this mellow, creamy, mouth-melting, cured cheese is used.

For something a little different—Rub Cream Cheese through grater, add few drops Worcestershire Sauce and lemon, work until smooth. Arrange lettuce leaves on bread, spread on cheese mixture and chopped pickles. Cover with slice of buttered bread.

for Salads

The number of delicious salads that can be prepared with Kroger's Cream Cheese will indeed surprise you. For instance here is one that is so simple and yet really delightful—

Cream together one tablespoonful Country Club Salad Dressing and 1/4 lb. Cream Cheese and work until smooth. Roll into balls and place in core of pineapple slices. Serve on lettuce.

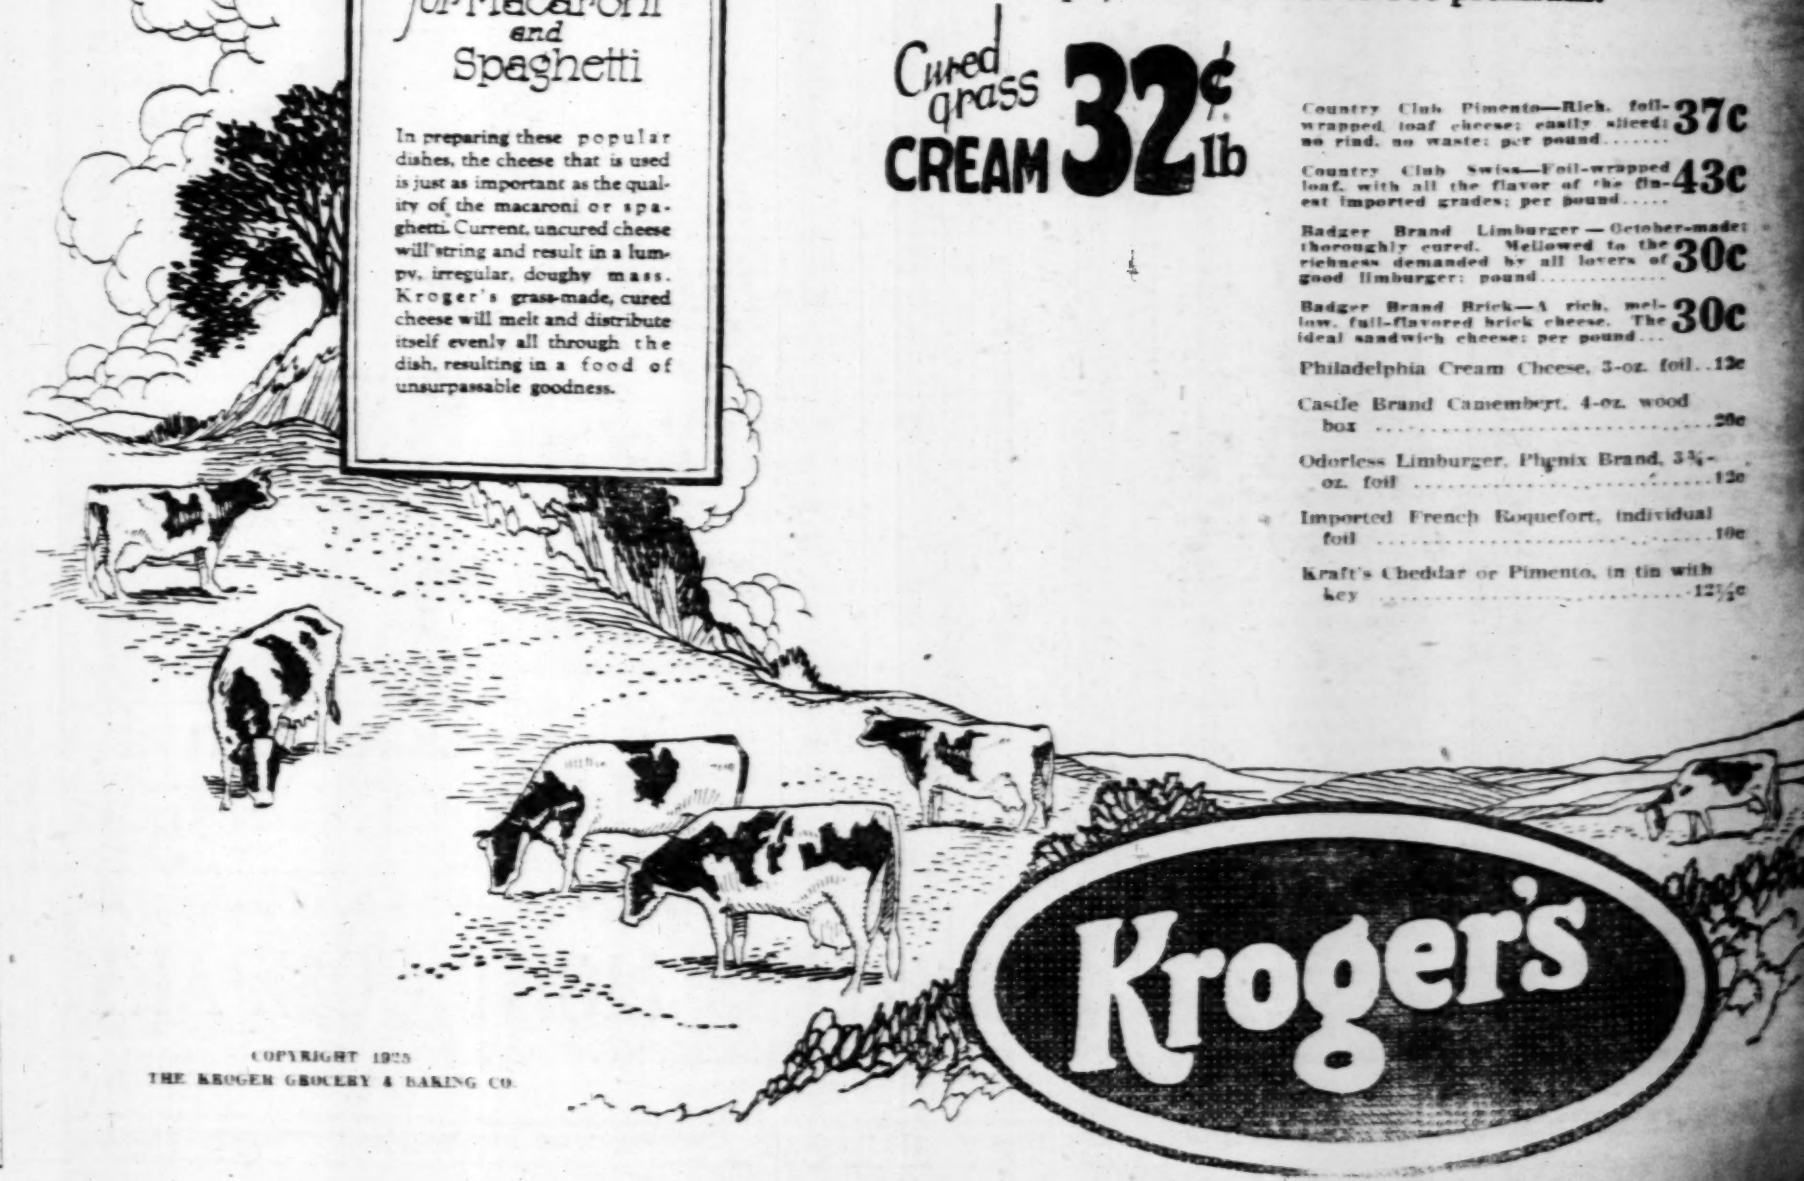

for Macaroni and Spaghetti

In preparing these popular dishes, the cheese that is used is just as important as the quality of the macaroni or spaghetti. Current, uncured cheese will string and result in a lumpy, irregular, doughy mass. Kroger's grass-made, cured cheese will melt and distribute itself evenly all through the dish, resulting in a food of unsurpassable goodness.

MILLER OFFERS $5000 FOR PROOF OF K. K. K. LINK

Nominee Says Any Man Who Dares to Tell Him He Ever Was a Member Will Have to Go to Mat.

"MAYOR IS A LAW ENFORCING OFFICER"

Best Way to Prevent Crime, He Asserts, Is to Destroy Dives and Hangouts of the Crooks.

Victor J. Miller, Republican nominee for Mayor, departed from his well-hewn line of law enforcement principles in three speeches last night long enough to offer $5000 for proof that he is or ever was a member of the Ku Klux Klan.

He spoke at the Washington Hotel at a Twenty-sixth Ward Republican Club meeting at Euclid Hall, Euclid and Natural Bridge avenues, to a Twenty-second Ward meeting and at Argus Hall, 2312 Market street, to a gathering of negroes.

Ready to Go to the Mat.

The latter meeting drew his strongest fire with respect to the Klan issue. "This is the 156th meeting of colored people I have addressed in the past few months and at every one I have had to spend much of my time declaring that I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan," Miller said. "I want to tell you now that I am not a member and I never have been. Any man who dares to face me and tell me that I ever have been a member or that I am affiliated with that organization will have to go to the mat with me."

"I hereby declare that if anyone can prove such statements I stand ready to donate $5000 to him and I will allow the Archbishop of St. Louis to act as judge."

Powers of the Mayor.

Miller then plunged into his law enforcement discussion, pointing out that the Mayor is a member ex-officio of the Police Board and that he expected to "get along fine with the new board." In this connection he mentioned "other police boards" and by inference criticised the one of which Congressman Harry B. Hawes was president.

"The fundamental difference in this campaign," Miller said, "is this: The Republican party believes in the powers of the Mayor as a law enforcing official and the Democratic party does not."

"Since my entry into public life, I have advocated law enforcement. My campaign for the nomination for Governor was made on that basis. The people of St. Louis gave me an overwhelming vote of confidence. My campaign for the mayoralty nomination was made on the same basis. My platform in the primary campaign was that the Mayor is a law enforcing officer. The people again agreed with me and nominated me."

"My position on law enforcement is the same now as it was in the primary. The Democratic campaign minimizes the Mayor's powers as a law enforcement official. Their public utterances show that they have not fully considered the real powers of the Mayor."

Miller will deliver three addresses tonight. He will speak at Rose Hill Hall, 5891 Maple avenue; Pythian Hall, 2127 Pine street; and Compton Hall, 2205 Park avenue.

SHIP EQUIPPED TO EXTRACT BROMINE FROM THE OCEAN

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 26.—The steamship Ethyl will sail April 15 from Wilmington, Del., to extract bromine from the ocean.

A world shortage of bromine, which is said to threaten both industry and science, caused the Ethyl to be fitted out as a factory for recovering bromine from sea water, the American Chemical Society announces. The Ethyl will call at no port, but will roam the ocean and extract from the waters her cargo of bromine which is regarded as essential to medicine, motion pictures and to the ethyl fluid of motor fuel. The development of ethyl gasoline in automobile operation is given as the cause of the shortage.

Chemical experts estimate that each 1700 gallons of seawater contain one pound of bromine. A. M. Maxwell, vice president of the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation, says a new process will enable the Ethyl to obtain 100,000 pounds of bromine monthly. Success of the venture, he thinks, may mean the equipping of a fleet of bromine ships and the creation of floating chemical industries for the recovery from the seas of "other valuable constituents to enrich mankind."

SOMETHING BESIDES SODA IN THEIR SODA

Prune Salesman Explains How
He Met Lawyer Who Sued
Him for Fee.

It was in the autumn of 1922, that season of the year when things have lost their newness and become taken for granted, that John Schulte, prune salesman of Cape Girardeau, Mo., and his wife had some sort of misunderstanding and Mrs. Schulte got ready to sue for divorce. So Schulte, not wishing to be sued with divorce papers, decided to desert the free and sovereign State of Missouri, and take residence in some adjacent Commonwealth.

Just why he went to Belleville, Ill., is unknown. It may be he had been attending vaudeville shows or perhaps he had a fondness for asparagus. But anyhow that is where he removed himself to, and that is where he met Eugene Kreitner, Belleville barrister.

"Kreitner and I used to play billiards together all day in Belleville," Schulte told Justice of the Peace Clark yesterday. "We used to play billiards and drink soda all day, so you can see we were very good friends."

Queery as to the Soda. "Nothing in the soda?" the Court inquired.

"Well, Judge, a man wouldn't play billiards all day unless he had something besides soda in the soda," Schulte replied. "And knowing Kreitner was a lawyer, I asked him what to do so my wife couldn't get my money. So he drew up a confession of judgment in favor of my brother for $5000, so in case my wife tried to get my money she couldn't get it till my brother had got his $5000 first. You know."

So one day we got on the train and took our confession of judgment down to Cairo. We drank soda all the way down. Soda? Well, your Honor, it wasn't perfectly white like soda. Yes, I guess you're right, your Honor, it was a little the color of prune juice," admitted the prune salesman.

"Well, after we got through the trip and the soda and got the petition filed, I wrote out two checks for $50 each and gave them to Kreitner for fees. But he said it wasn't enough. But I thought it was. And anyhow, my wife and I had fixed it up, and I moved back to Cape Girardeau."

Sued by His Lawyer. However, Schulte, who moved to Illinois to dodge papers, had papers served on him when he came back to Missouri, and the papers were summonses to appear in court and explain why he shouldn't give the Belleville barrister the $2000 he claimed in legal fees over the $100 he had already received.

"You want $200 more," said Judge Clark to Kreitner. "Now, you've already got $100. Well, I'll give you another $100. Fifty dollars for the petition filed at Cairo, and $50 for expenses on the trip—including the prune-juice-colored soda."

MRS. GRACIE RETRACTS CHARGE She Had Maintained That Son-in-Law Took Daughter's Will.

By the Associated Press. RIVERHEAD, N. Y., March 26.

—Mrs. Constance Elsie Gracie, widow of Col. Archibald Gracie, who died from exposure after his rescue of the sinking of the Titanic, has filed today an affidavit retracting charges she made against her son-in-law, Dunbar G. Adams, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Adams.

Mrs. Gracie's daughter, the wife of Dunbar G. Adams died during the war while her husband was in service overseas. Mrs. Gracie had charged that a will leaving Mrs. Adams' entire estate to herself had been stolen from a desk in the Hotel Savoy and destroyed. Papers filed here show that Mrs. Gracie is receiving $2500 yearly from her son-in-law. A tax appraisal fixed the value of the estate at $156,929.

In her affidavit Mrs. Gracie stated, "I have come to a realization of the great wrong and irreparable injustice I have done Mr. and Mrs. John D. Adams and Dunbar G. Adams. I wish in so far as it is humanly possible to right the great wrong and injury I have done to them in making the afore-said cruel, bitter, unwarranted, unjustifiable and unreasonable accusations against them, as I have and to that end I do now retract, recall and disavow them."

Robbed of $400 on Street Car. Pickpockets on a Grand boulevard car robbed Henry Fisher of $400 while he rode from Grand and Olive street to Twentieth street and East Grand boulevard last night, he reported. He stood in the aisle part of the way and was crowded by some men, he said, but did not discover his loss until after he had left the car.

Coffee is still cheap!

WE ALL know that Coffee has gone up in price, just as almost everything else has done, but the important thing to remember is that Coffee—the best of drinks—still costs very, very little.

Even at present prices the average cost of Coffee for your home is only 1 1/2 cents a cup—a trifling sum indeed when you consider the pleasure that is in it and the zest that it adds to your whole day.

As a matter of fact, the price of Coffee has gone up less in the last ten or twelve years than ham, or lamb, or shoes, or rent, or some other staples.

At 1 1/2 cents a cup, the cost of Coffee is only 1/20 or 1/40 or even 1/50 of the total cost of your average meal at home.

Where else can you buy as much genuine satisfaction for so very, very little? What else can you buy that means as much to your enjoyment of breakfast, luncheon and dinner?

CANVASS BEGUN FOR FUNDS FOR TORNADO DISTRICT

Wholesale and Jobbing Concerns Asked to Contribute on Basis of $50,000 Minimum.

LISTS DISTRIBUTED AMONG EMPLOYEES

Latest Donations Include $2200 From Postoffice Force and $1000 From the Missouri Pacific.

A canvass of wholesale and jobbing concerns was begun today to raise funds for the St. Louis disaster relief for the tornado district. The Chamber of Commerce, cooperating with the Citizens' Relief Committee and the Red Cross, called a meeting of business concerns yesterday and a temporary organization, "The St. Louis Wholesale and Manufacturing Tornado Relief Fund," was formed.

Included in the contributions received by the Red Cross today was one of $1000 from the Missouri Pacific Railroad. This is in addition to the contribution of $1726.45 previously sent in by the employees of the railroad company.

Firms are to be asked to distribute lists so that their employees may contribute to the fund, a firm on every street will be asked to make a generous contribution. It is felt that probably have done considerable business the past with towns in the strike area, and will want to contribute proportion to this.

W. Palmer Clarkson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, sent letters to a number of associations urging that lists be distributed among employees, and also that firms contribute at once.

An appeal is made by J. L. Moran, chairman of the Citizens' Relief Committee, that contributions be based on the half-million dollar basis. The first call was only $100,000 before it was realized how serious the disaster was, and the tremendous amount of money that would be required for reconstruction work. A great spontaneous response came from the first call, but there are still many individuals and business concerns which have not yet made their contribution, and they are urged to do so.

Wade, treasurer, Red Cross, 7 Locust street.

$2200 From Postal Employees. A contribution of $2200 was turned in by Postmaster Alt yesterday from the postal employees.

The Knights of Columbus yesterday appealed to members in town throughout the State to respond. Mrs. Wm. T. Donovan issued a call yesterday to members and organizations of the Council of Catholic Women to send their contribution at once to Wade.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce volunteered yesterday to help firms outside the downtown business district and are working on them today.

Rolla Henson, 32 years of age, whose home was with his mother, Mrs. G. H. McManany, 1610 North Jefferson avenue, died yesterday afternoon at city hospital from injuries which he said he had suffered early in February in an automobile accident near Troy, Ill.

Henson said he was riding with a friend named Washburn when Washburn's machine was swiped by another and overturned. He was treated for a while at Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, and was transferred to city hospital March 1.

SIXTY YEARS OLD—STILL GROWING

The reason Aloe's has grown from the small shop of 60 years ago to the largest establishment of its kind west of the Mississippi has been an increasing demand for Aloe Glasses and Aloe Service. This is due to a sustained reputation for "Quality beyond Question" in our optical goods and painstaking care in fitting each individual. This quality is still maintained, as demonstrated by our continued growth in recent years.

ADVERTISEMENT Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arsenic; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single size and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arsenic at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Is this all you have saved for a rainy day?

LOST RAYS OF RADIUM CAPTURED

British Discovery. It Is Held.
May Multiply Curative Power of Element.

LONDON, March 25.—The experts of Middlesex Hospital in London, the center of British radium research, claim to have made an important discovery enabling the curative value of any given quantity of radium to be multiplied thousands of times.

Briefly the discovery consists in throttling radium gas, known as radon, in tiny glass tubes. Radium emits three kinds of rays, known as alpha, beta and gamma, but hitherto only the gamma rays have been harnessed. The present success concerns the beta rays which the experts now are "capturing," purifying, condensing and confining in glass tubes a little thicker than a human hair to which is given the name "seeds."

These "seeds" they are prepared to distribute to other hospitals for curative purposes, and suggest they may prove useful in treating cancer, although they depreciate the idea that they are likely to prove revolutionary or offer a certain cure.

The beta rays, which have a profound effect on the tissues of the body, hitherto have run to waste, but now bottled, they can be used in conjunction with the gamma rays and it is from this use that greater results are expected. The alpha rays are very weak and are regarded as negligible.

NOONDAY SERVICE OFFERING GIVEN TO STORM RELIEF FUND

Cleveland Lutheran Preacher at American Theater Makes Contribution.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of New York City preached a noonday Lenten service at Orpheum Theater yesterday on "Christ, the Eternal Companion." Keeping company with Christ makes a man independent of his past and certain about his future," Dr. Cadman said. "Let us look up today and believe that Christ still stands at our right hand, and that so long as he is with us life cannot be an idle tale nor a deception, nor a snare."

"Man may have been a pauper at the start, but he is a prince at the finish, and all because Jesus has drawn near and walks with those who seek his blessed society."

At the American Theater Pastor H. W. Bartels of Cleveland preached the Lutheran noonday service on "The Way of the Transgressor Hard." The offering, $525, was contributed to the Red Cross tornado relief fund.

FRENCH DEVICE DIMINISHES WASTE OF AIRPLANE POWER

Engine Appliance Permits High Rate of Speed in Rarefied Atmosphere.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, March 25.—An important appliance for reducing waste of airplane engine power at great heights has been invented by Louis Dambiano. Acting as a friend of the inventor, Paul Painleve, president of the Chamber of Deputies, has presented the device to the Academy of Science.

At present an airplane engine loses half of its power when the plane has reached an altitude of 16,000 feet, as a result of rarefaction of the atmosphere. With Dambiano's invention, which weighs only nine pounds and is fixed inside the motor, almost no power is lost, according to French aviation authorities who have tested it. The practical results are greater speed and possibility of reaching higher altitudes.

Coolidge's Son Home for Vacation. WASHINGTON, March 25.—John Coolidge, son of President Mr. Coolidge, returned to the White House today from Amherst College to spend the spring vacation. It is the first real visit he has had with his parents since Christmas, his return on inauguration day having been only for a few hours.

The Age for Marrying

WINIFRED BLACK

Marry Early or Late—Which?

Seems to me that all the girls who are never going to be married at all and all the girls who declare they will never give up their freedom until they are, at the very least, 30, are the very ones who marry before they're 20.

Which is the most sensible, the early marriage or the late one? Dear me, I'd hate to be the Solomon to decide that question. There's Mary—Mary, quite contrary—she always said she wasn't going to marry at all. She was going into a convent and be a sister and pray for the sins of the world and put the tall candles on the altar and cut off her hair and wear a black dress and a white veil and consecrate herself to pious contemplation.

Or else she was going to go to India or China or Africa as a missionary. She didn't care very much what kind of a missionary—she just wanted to "lead and teach"—she didn't seem to know just exactly what.

But marry—a husband, children; the slavery and the narrowness of four walls—not she.

The wide, wide world for her, or else the romantic seduction of the convent. And now she's married and settled down—and she didn't wait till she was 18, much less 20—and she has a dear little house and 30 kinds of roses and peach trees and apple trees and cherry trees and strawberries and gooseberries and currants and chickens and ducks and a Persian kitten and a ridiculous little, fat puppy and what do you think—a pair of twins!

Alpha and Omega, she insists she is going to call them, and she's learned to cook and she loves to sew and she has love birds in a cage and canaries and a funny little arbor where she sits and sings to the babies and, somehow, I love to think about her, dear little Mary. Mary, quite contrary, who never was going to marry at all—so she wasn't—not she!

And there's Helen, her cousin. Helen's a beauty and Helen's rich and Helen always wanted to make a brilliant marriage, but she's 32 and no marriage yet, and the last time I saw Helen she looked a little better and she was more than a little restless.

Wonder If They'll Be Happy?

They say she's going to be married now to a very distinguished young scientist. I wonder if they'll be happy?

Helen likes parties and Helen likes dress and Helen likes flattery and Helen has had her own way for years and the young scientist likes quiet and he likes solitude and he hates fuss and feathers—I wonder who's getting the worst of the bargain.

And there's the girl of 30 who said she was tired of being sensible and ran away with a moving picture actor, with nothing to recommend him but his big eyes and a perfectly fascinating way he has of opening and shutting them.

Somehow, age doesn't seem to matter so much, after all—does it?

Both Together—'Goodness Gracious'

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

HOW strangely they would look to each other, these two, if they could meet—the girl of twenty-eight of thirty years ago and this damsel of now that everybody is hopping on so hard!

It is more likely that instead of BOTH saying "my goodness," this girl of ours would say something much stronger—"my word!" being one guess at it, and the other the only one who would be expressing herself perfectly with that gracious word.

What would thirty years ago think, anyway, of nineteen-twenty-five? Of her hair, her silhouette, her short petti, her long silk legs, her pose, her cigarette, her figure as natural as a Greek girl's? She would probably think her a rare curiosity and a fright.

What would Right Now think of thirty years ago? Of her enormous rolls of hair, her stiff back, her long gloves, her lack of any feet and legs at all, all her tiny waist with her blouse half as long in the back as in the front, her pose as of a straight line that had been bent in the middle with pride, her tiny ear-drops, her yards of swirling lace skirts, her tight corsets, her unusual figure, her lack of smoke and slang? She would think her a rare curiosity and a fright!

Can is the only one who would think neither of them funny and both of them lovely indeed!

Peter Rabbit's Only Chance

PETER RABBIT had formed the habit of dropping around by the new home of Johnny and Polly Chuck very often. He liked to gossip a bit with Johnny Chuck. Then, too, he liked the Old Orchard. There was always something of interest going on there. So whenever Peter was near enough to easily do so he ran over where the Chucks were now living.

Now no one can do a thing over and over again for very long without having some one to find it out. Reddy Fox makes it his business to find out the habits of his neighbors. Reddy says that the most useful knowledge he possesses is knowledge of the habits of others. It has filled his stomach more than once, and he knows that it will fill his stomach many times again. So the instant Reddy finds that one of his neighbors has done a certain thing more than once he keeps watch to see if this is the beginning of a habit.

So when, on two mornings in succession, just after daylight, Reddy from a distance caught a glimpse of Peter going toward the corner of the Old Orchard where Johnny and Polly Chuck had made their new home, he began to do a little wondering.

"I must look into this," said Reddy to himself very craftily. "I must look into this. Twice I have seen Peter Rabbit over there in the same place. I wonder if he is making a habit of visiting Johnny Chuck? If he is I want to know it. I may be able to corner that long-leggedascal at last." This thought seemed to be a pleasant one, for Reddy smacked his lips two or three times.

The following morning Reddy was hiding where he could see that corner of the old stone wall. Just after Jolly 'round red Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky Peter Rabbit visited Johnny Chuck. Again the next morning it happened. Reddy grinned. It was a satisfied sort of grin. In fact, Reddy almost chuckled.

On the following morning Reddy was up in the Old Orchard before daylight. Behind the trunk of an old apple tree he laid down. By peeping around it he could see the entrance to Johnny Chuck's house without much chance of being seen himself.

Just after the Black Shadows left Johnny Chuck came out. He yawned and then, after a look around, went straight to a patch of tender grass and clover only a few feet away from his doorstep and began to eat his breakfast. In a few minutes he was joined by Polly Chuck. Reddy watched them. In the first place, he knew that they would reach their house before he could catch one of them. In the second place, Johnny Chuck was too big. Reddy had a great deal of respect for Johnny's teeth and strength. So he merely waited and hoped.

Just as Johnny Chuck finished and sat up for a look around while he chewed the last mouthful of sweet clover Peter Rabbit jumped over the wall at a low place. He jumped over not far from where Reddy Fox lay behind the apple tree and hurried to pop

WHERE WOMEN WEAR FANCIFUL RINGS IN THEIR LIPS.

IN Cameroon, the little French and English protectorate that lies between British Nigeria and the French Congo in Africa, the women do not waste all of their jewelry in adorning their hands and arms and throats and ears. They save the chief ornament of all for their lips.

When they are quite young the girls have plugs inserted in their lips to make them project. Tremendous, distorted lips are the marks of beauty and no woman who cannot boast of this possession can claim the attentions of the young warriors.

As the years pass the disks, or plugs, force the lips out to greater and greater proportions until they sometimes reach the state where they protrude two or three inches from the rest of the face, or fall below the chin. A woman who can exhibit as glorious a development as this, has little need to trouble herself with other decorations. She is secure in her power to attract, just by virtue of this ornament.

The coiffures of the women of Cameroon would vie with the most elaborate head-dresses of any period of European history. The young girls have their hair braided very tightly in innumerable fine plaits. But the older women have a system of elaborate puffs done up very carefully and neatly and accurately in a set style. They have bands of jewels woven among the puffs.

Aside from these unusual decorations, the Cameroon woman troubles herself very little about clothing. A bit of material draped about her and many, many strings of beads are sufficient for a costume.

The people of Cameroon live in huts made of hardwood poles for framework, dry grass for the roof thatch and mud for the wall. They need little carpentering to put their homes together. The poles are fastened together without nails and the whole but maintains its shape by a process of sticking together.

The land of this country is very fertile and yields a plentiful crop of corn, millet, cassava, cacao, oil-palm, yams, cotton and rubber. It has had a varied career under the protection of Germany, France and England. It was discovered in the fifteenth century by a Portuguese navigator named Fernando Po.

Haidi Hanoum and Nembe Mouhiedine, the first women candidates for the Turkish National Assembly, will come to the United States to secure campaign pointers.

SALMON SOUFFLE.
Make an ordinary white sauce and season it well, using about two and a half tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons flour, two cups of milk, pepper, salt and one-half teaspoon onion juice and a few grains of mace. Mix with this one-half cup of bread crumbs, two cups flaked salmon, and beat in the yolks of three eggs. Now fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs, pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. The dish should be only half full, as a well-made souffle should rise to double its original size.

TEA COOKIES.
One and a half cups of granulated sugar, one cup of butter, one-half cup of sour cream or milk, one-half teaspoonful soda, two eggs beaten, one teaspoonful vanilla, one teaspoonful orange juice, three cups flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Cream sugar and butter, well together, add sour cream in which has been mixed the soda, then the beaten egg, flavoring and flour sifted with baking powder, mix all together, set in ice box over night. Next morning roll and bake for 10 minutes in moderate oven. Makes 60 or 70 cookies.

Young Beets in Dressing.

Boil the young beets until tender, then skin them. Have ready the following dressing: Put a half cupful each of water and tarragon vinegar, a teaspoonful of cornstarch dissolved in a very little water, a scant quarter cupful of sugar, a saltspoonful each of salt and pepper and a tablespoonful of soft butter. Stir until cooked smooth, then turn onto the beets, set in ice box over night. Next morning roll and bake for 10 minutes in moderate oven. Makes 60 or 70 cookies.

SOUR STICHE—RUSSIAN.

Take four pounds of lean beef and dice it, sprinkle with a table-spoonful of salt and put into a saucepan with four quarts of water. Cook gently a few minutes, then skim well and add a sliced carrot, one leek and one onion that have been browned slightly in butter. Cook over a very slow fire. Into another saucepan put two table-spoonfuls of butter, two minced onions and brown slightly. Add two table-spoonfuls of flour and a small cabbage and stew for one hour. Lift the meat from the soup and add it to the cabbage then strain in the soup. Add five diced potatoes, cover the saucepan and cook for another hour. Just before serving add a small cupful of tomato puree. Serve cold sour cream in a sauce boat with the soup.

Chapter Ten.
LONELY EVENING.
AFTER another day of futile round of social amusements, Mariana looked forward to the evening with Charles. Usually, five nights out of the seven, Charles would dine out and play mah jong afterwards, or a dance. Charles didn't He could, but he was too tired in it to keep up his steps. Mariana, on the other hand, was passionately devoted to the vision of Craig Culdane, who had seen him in the new chef's pretty good at it. Charles commented on it, "but oh Lord, what you'd better get Thomas to do them—didn't he do the last cook, left? He caused a lot of trouble. I believe I'll take coffee. Mariana remarked Charles when he adjourned to the library. Mariana seated herself behind the service. "Feeling sleepy and want to turn in," she said, "I'm going to look at random. I'm looking at the new chef's pretty good at it. Mariana wouldn't care to go over Harrison's for a game, yet," she suggested. Lin-

This particular evening Mariana arrived late from the club and dashed into her room. She found Mariana impatiently around the room, knowing the new chef's fuming in the kitchen. Then Charles looked at her with a frown and said, "I'm looking at the new chef's pretty good at it. Mariana wouldn't care to go over Harrison's for a game, yet," she suggested. Lin-

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Dry Before Fry.

Meats should be absolutely dry before frying. If necessary, pat it with a clean cloth before dusting with flour or putting it into the pan.

If Bitten Slightly.

Immediately apply tincture of hives from cats or small bites. This, followed by a sterile dressing will be found very good.

A Padded Surface.

Heard Turkish towel should be kept in the back of the ironing board. When a bit of laundry turns up to be ironed, it can be placed on the towel and creases will be avoided.

Flowers via Uncle Sam.

You have received flowers from the mail place them immediately in water and stand them there. Then place in a dark place for an hour or so. Then cut a piece from each stem and let them as you desire. You find them quite revived and as withstanding time.

End That Cold—Tonight

With Hot Lemonade

WHEN you're sneezing—when you're chilly—that's the time to stop a cold.

Take a good, old-fashioned hot lemonade—as hot as you can stand it. Then a hot bath and go to bed, with plenty of warm covers. You will note the difference in the morning.

The effectiveness of hot lemonade in the prevention or treatment of a cold is due to more than its heat.

Thousands used this effective and easy method during the influenza epidemics. You, too, will profit by doing likewise if a cold impends.

Mothers now keep lemons always in the house for such emergencies. Children should have this healthful drink. If their feet are wet after playing outdoors give them a hot lemonade. It's good insurance against colds and more serious results.

It takes but a few minutes to prepare it. Just squeeze the juice of a lemon in glass or cup of hot water. Add sugar if you wish. The time to act is when you first suspect the cold. Do this tonight if you feel chilly.

California lemons make the best lemonade. They are practically seedless, tart and heavy with acid juice. Buy them at any first-class store. Try the "hot lemonade way" tonight.
